Lodge Accuses Reds Of Wanton Plane Attacks

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP) —American Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., accused the Soviet Union today of a "pattern of unprovoked attacks" on American planes since 1950. He declared they must not go unchallenged.

In a speech to the U.N. Security Council, Lodge said the downing of an American bomber Sept. 4 with the loss of one American was the latest in this series. He called on the Soviet Union to go before the International Court of Justice for a settlement or accept some other means of peaceful adjustment.

Lodge cited six other incidents in which American planes were shot down by Soviet planes from the Baltic Sea almost to Alaska. All told, 28 lives were lost in these attacks, he said, and 16 persons were missing.

Lodge listed the incidents as follows:

"On April 8, 1950, an unarmed United States aircraft was shot down by Soviet aircraft in the Baltic Sea. In this attack 10 American lives were lost.

"On Nov. 6, 1951, an American weather aircraft was shot down by a Soviet aircraft in the Sea of Japan with a loss of 10 lives.

"On Nov. 19, 1951, a Soviet fighter forced an unarmed American plane down onto a Hungarian airfield. The four-man crew of this aircraft was held for ransom.

"On Oct. 7, 1952, an American B-29 was shot down near Hokkaido, the northernmost island of Japan. Eight lives were lost.

"On March 15, 1953, an American aircraft was attacked without warning while en route from Alaska to Japan with no loss of life; the attacking Soviet planes were beaten off.

"On July 29, 1953, an American B50, on a peaceful mission over the Sea of Japan, was shot down without warning; 16 members of that crew are still missing. The co-pilot was rescued and told the details of the ruthless attack by the Soviet aircraft."

Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky, just back from home leave during which he dined with Prime Minister Malenkov, ridiculed the American charges that Red MIGs shot down a U.S. Navy Neptune bomber off the coast of Siberia last week. He said the American plane fired first and said the U.S. case did "not hold water." His answer showed the Russians have no intention of going to the international court.

Vishinsky declared flights of American planes near and over Soviet territory actually were intended to test Soviet radar defenses. If these flights ceased, he added, international relations would be improved and there

Steve Mitchell Again Assails TVA Contract

MORGANTON, N. C., Sept. 10 (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell charged tonight the Eisenhower administration's Dixon-Yates power contract amounts to multi-million-dollar favoritism "that violates every rule of fair play and of good management of the public's business."

Mitchell addressed a Democratic rally here after telling a news conference earlier in Richmond, Va., that the power contract would be an important and growing issue in the fall congressional election campaigns.

He told newsmen the power contract was President Eisenhower's doings and, "I'm going to keep on challenging it."

A private utility combine, known as the Dixon-Yates group, is negotiating a contract to supply electric power over lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority to the Memphis Tenn., area. This energy would replace power supplied by TVA to the Atomic Energy Commission for use at the Paducah, Ky., atomic plant.

In his address here, Mitchell charged that competitive bidding on the contract was "positively

Heart Attack Is Fatal To Pioneer, H. L. Breard, Sr.

Herbert Lee Breard, Sr., a member of one of the earliest pioneer families in the Monroe area, died suddenly yesterday afternoon while enroute home with his wife from the downtown area.

He and his wife, who reside on Bon Aire Drive, were almost home when a sudden heart pain was felt by Mr. Breard, and he asked her for some medicine. He had been driving the car, and his wife suggested that she drive the remaining short distance to their

Road Blocks Set Up Throughout Mississippi

Two Condemned Slayers Still At Large; Search Centers Near Jackson

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 10 (AP) — Officers kept watch today at roadblocks throughout Mississippi for two condemned prisoners who threw acid in a jailer's face and broke out of the Hinds county jail.

A plane joined the manhunt, circling an area north of Jackson where the search centered.

The men were last seen in a red pickup truck.

The escapees slugged three men after dashing to freedom to steal getaway vehicles. One remained in serious condition.

And jailer J. C. Landrum remained in critical condition from a blow on the head and was treated for acid burns of the face.

The two men sentenced to die in Mississippi's portable electric chair were: Minor Sorber, sentenced for helping kill a fellow convict at the state penitentiary; and Gerald Gallego, convicted of killing a gulf coast policeman.

"We've got everything we have on roadblocks from one end of the state to the other," the highway patrol reported. The search temporarily settled down to waiting.

Officers said Gallego refused to return to his cell last night after taking a shower and was left in the corridor in front of the jail cells on the fifth floor of the courthouse.

When Landrum brought breakfast to prisoners, he had to open the last door separating Gallego from freedom.

"This Gallego had some acid in his cell," an officer said. The acid is used for cleaning.

"He threw that acid in his (Landrum's) face and knocked him on the head with a piece of iron," that apparently came from his bunk or the shower. Gallego then flipped a switch opening Dorber's cell.

The two men dashed down an open stairway leading to the jail kitchen on the fourth floor and snapped the lock on a door that left their road free.

Mrs. Landrum, who lives in the jail with her husband, said she heard her husband scream and notified all law agencies. Policemen shot up to the fifth floor in an elevator.

But Sorber and Gallego were on the fourth floor, she said, and rang for the automatic elevator, climbed in and rode to freedom.

They bumped into Howard Vaughn, a county employe and forced him back into his car. They slugged him and dropped him out a few blocks away.

Later, they ran the car into a ditch and came upon Calvin Lowell Wells and Warner Webster talking beside Webster's red pickup truck. They clubbed both men and fled in the truck.

Appeals held up execution of both men. Their cases now are before the state supreme court. Sorber was scheduled to die last Oct. 30. Gallego's execution was set for July 15.

Highway patrol headquarters radioed today: "Use any means at your disposal to capture" the escapees.

Members of the Mississippi House of Representatives, adjourning for the weekend about four hours after the break, were urged to refuse rides to any hitchhikers by speaker of the House Walter Sillers.

Sorber was convicted Sept. 23, 1953, for helping slay Edgar (Sonny) McGraw in a cotton field at the state penitentiary. Three other men were tried for the murder. One other received a death sentence and two received life imprisonment.

Gallego was convicted of killing policeman Ernest Beaugez last May when the officer tried to arrest him. He was convicted in June.

Beaugez was shot twice, his body found on a lonely road near Moss Point.

Testimony showed that after Gallego killed the officer he went to Mobile, Ala., and is charged with robbing a bank there. Later, he took a taxi to New Orleans which meant he would have to pass again through Moss Point.

Constable Carl Wilson was tipped that Gallego was coming through and arrested him.

Oak Grove Man Is Gored By Bull; Condition Grave

OAK GROVE, Sept. 10 (Special) —A West Carroll Parish farmer, Howell (Son) Cheatham, about 50, is in critical condition at the Lake Village, Ark., sanitarium tonight after a savage attack by a Guernsey bull in his pasture north of Oak Grove earlier this morning. The bull was slain.

Cheatham is suffering from a fractured pelvis, dislocated hips, spread ribs, and multiple bruises over his body, in additon to being gored, it is reported. He was first treated in the Biggs Clinic, at Oak Grove, and later transferred to Lake Village, Ark.

Cheatham and two Negroes are reported to have been crossing the pasture in which the bull was grazing, enroute to a cotton field. The bull charged the three, attacking Cheatham. One of the Negroes was on a horse, it is reported, and he and the other man dashed off to get a gun. They went to a neighbor's house, and returned, killing the bull with the weapon they obtained.

The injured man has been farming for a number of years in the Oak Grove area. He is married, and has three children and two grandchildren. He lives in Oak Grove, but maintains his farm nearby.

Big-3 Reject Soviet Bid For European Pact

State Department Reminds Russia Of Austrian Impasse

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — The United States, Britain and France today rejected Russia's proposal to join in a new European security setup but said a Big Four meeting might be arranged if progress is made on the German and Austrian problems.

The State Department released the text of its note to Russia to this effect and said identical messages were delivered by the British and French at Moscow also.

These were in reply to Russia's July 24 and Aug. 4 communications calling for a European security arrangement involving both Communist and free world countries. The Russian move, which also called for a new Big Four conference, was regarded here as another effort to wreck the Western North Atlantic Treaty Organization and block rearmament of West Germany.

The American reply in effect repeated the U.S. view that nothing would be gained at a Big Four foreign ministers meeting as long as the East and West disagree on the future of Austria and Germany.

Giving Austria a peace treaty and restoring her sovereignty is "the simplest step toward the promotion of European security," the American note said.

The American government remains ready, it added, to negotiate for early free elections in Germany as an "essential first step toward German reunification in freedom."

There is no use discussing these problems, already weighed at length during the Berlin conference last winter, unless "there is a better prospect of finding solutions than was revealed" at Berlin or in subsequent communications, the note said.

It expressed the hope that Russia would sign the Austrian treaty version advanced by Russia at the Berlin conference, but without attaching any strings. This was a renewal of the American offer at Berlin to accept the Soviet text. However, the Russians switched at Berlin to such contingencies as an all-European settlement and a German peace treaty before the Austrian pact could become effective.

On the question of disarmament, the American note repeated—with another invitation to Russia to go along—its proposal that all nuclear weapons be outlawed under a system of safeguards and inspections to enforce such a ban.

The American note concluded, after calling for progress toward settlement of the German and Austrian questions:

"If progress could be made in this way, the United States government would then be prepared to agree to the convocation of a meeting of the foreign ministers of the United Kingdom, France, U.S.A. and U.S.S.R. to complete the action on these problems and then to consider the remaining aspects of European security.

"The United States government also sincerely hopes that the disarmament discussion in the United Nations can be brought to a successful conclusion."

Ike's Staff To Aid GOP In 1954 Election Races

DENVER, Sept. 10—UP—President Eisenhower promised 19 state GOP chairmen Friday that members of his staff would be available in the future to help them plot their campaign strategy in this vital congressional election year.

The Republicans, members of the Midwest and Rocky Mountain State GOP Chairmen's Association, told Mr. Eisenhower Friday morning that some members of the White House staff had not always been fully cooperative. They also suggested that Mr. Eisenhower keep his campaign for a Republican-controlled Congress on a "higher plane."

A spokesman for the group said the chief executive assured the association that his immediate staff would be available at all times in the future for consultation on issues of local, regional or national importance.

"Some Republican candidates had been impatient with Mr. Eisenhower's campaign techniques due to a misunderstanding of individual local issues on the part of the White House staff," the spokesman, who asked not to be identified, said.

He also said that members of the

Pro-Red Arbenz Flies To Exile In Mexico City

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 10 (AP)—Ex-President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman of Guatemala flew into Mexican exile today with the shouts and curses of a vengeful crowd of his fellow countrymen his only send-off. His reception here was frosty.

Arbenz, the former chief of Guatemalas ousted pro-Communist regime, had spent 10 weeks as hide-away political refugee in the Mexican Embassy in Guatemala. He appeared pale and thin upon his arrival here with 17 of his supporters and his wife and two young sons.

Threatening crowds had gathered at the airport in Guatemala a few hours earlier when news spread of Arbenz' departure. They shouted "Assassins! Criminals! Genocides!" at the departing party. There were also cries of "Death to Arbenz!"

Arbenz and his party had to be spirited out the back door of the Mexican Embassy and taken by a circuitous route to the airport to avert hostile crowds. He had to strip during examination by Guatemalan customs officials. Women in the party wept as they boarded the Mexican commercial plane for the 3½-hour flight.

Among those in the party were Jose Manuel Fortuny, secretary of the Guatemalan Community party, and Col. Carolos Enrique Diaz, former armed forces head who took over the government for 34 hours after Arbenz resigned last June 27.

Arbenz, a 40-year-old former Guatemalan army colonel, had been among hundreds of political refugees in the Mexican Embassy in Guatemala since the forces of Lt. Col. Carlos Castillo Armas pushed him out of office.

In accord with the traditional Latin-American right of political asylum, Castillo, now Guatemala's president, decided to grant the ref-

McCarthy Wins Point: 'FBI Letter' Admitted As Committee Evidence

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) today won his fight to get his hotly controversial "FBI letter" into evidence in his censure hearing—but Senate investigators ruled it still secret and refused to make it public.

This decision, hailed by the McCarthy side as "eminently satisfactory," came as the six-member special committee called a Saturday session in an effort to finish the public hearings this week.

The committee bowed to a new ruling by Atty. Gen. Brownell that the 2¼-page document produced by McCarthy during the McCarthy-Army hearings last spring is still secret and must not be made public.

But the senators granted McCarthy's plea—made in a heated exchange yesterday — that they study the letter themselves and weigh it in considering one of the charges against him.

This charge is that the Wisconsin senator illegally accepted secret FBI data and then presented it in the form of a "spurious" letter. McCarthy insists he had a right to receive the document and that it is exactly what it purports to be—a summary of an FBI report with security information removed.

Today's session was devoted chiefly to committee cross-examination of McCarthy on another of the five main groups of censure charges against him — that he abused Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker in questioning him at a closed hearing last Feb. 18.

McCarthy stuck firmly to his insistence that he did no such thing—that he sought only to "get the truth" from Zwicker when the general, according to McCarthy, "was not giving us straight forward—what I would consider honest answers."

Guy de Furia, assistant committee counsel, suggested Zwicker was only obeying presidential directives when he sidestepped questions about the Army's handling of alleged subversives.

McCarthy said no — that he would have honored a refusal to answer on that ground. He repeated an earlier charge that Zwicker, who sat listening in the hearing room, was "arrogant" and "evasive" without good reason.

Anyhow, McCarthy said, his remarks to Zwicker were not abusive —"I don't think you could call those criticisms," he said.

The senator agreed that he had told Zwicker he wasn't fit to wear "that uniform." But he said he was referring to the uniform of a general, not the U.S. Army uniform.

Referring to the senator's choice of words, De Furia inquired:

"In all fairness, sir, aren't you sometimes addicted to hyperbole (exaggerated language)?"

Amid laughter from some spectators, McCarthy's lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, suggested this was an improper question, and Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) ruled the query out of order.

Secretary of Defense Wilson, after a series of Capitol Hill and Pentagon conferences, wrote Watkins that the Defense Department "will encourage" Zwicker and Gen. Kirke B. Lawton to testify—but within limitations imposed by a presidential directive last May.

DeCastries Back In Paris; Given Chilly Reception

PARIS, Sept. 10 —UP— Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries, hero of Dien Bien Phu who after his release by the Indo-China Communists hailed them as independent nationalists, came home unheralded and unwelcomed Friday.

He traveled as "M. de la Croix," wore a rumpled gray suit, and clapped dark glasses on his hawk nose after one startled look from the door of the commercial airliner.

The arrival of the man who held a Communist siege army at bay for 56 days in the biggest battle of the Indo-China war was so secret that not even his wife was at Orly Airport to greet him.

She reached the field a little later, and they hurried away to a cafe to toast the reunion in champagne—with Gen. Louis Dio, representing the Paris military governor, in tow.

Four hours after de Castries' unannounced arrival, the defense ministry issued a statement saying he was back on a "private and unofficial" visit that he himself asked to travel incognito, and that he would return shortly to Indo-China to clean up the affairs of his command.

France's adulation for the commander of its heaviest colonial defeat chilled suddenly after he was freed a week ago at the end of the Indo-China war prisoner exchange.

After his arrival in Hanoi, a flurry of heavily censored cables quoted him as saying he was convinced the Viet Minh movement in Indo-China was sparked by nationalism, and "it seemed to me they retained their independence" of Red China.

Serviceman Has Case Of Leprosy

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 —UP— A California doctor Friday reported what is believed to be the first case of leprosy acquired during World War II military service.

Dr. Norman E. Levan, Bakersfield, Calif., reported the case in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

He said some cases had been expected among servicemen stationed in such places as the Philippines, where leprosy is prevalent.

More cases "may be anticipated during the next 30 years or more in veterans of both World War II and the Korean campaign," he said.

Levan's patient served on New Guinea, Leyte and Luzon in World War II. On Luzon, he was quartered in a native house.

Levan said the patient is under treatment and "modified isolation."

Populous East Coast In Path Of Huge Storm

125-Mile Winds Offer Threat To Long Islanders

CAPE HATTERAS, N. C., Sept. 10 —UP— Hurricane Edna howled over North Carolina's lonely outer banks Friday night, isolating tiny villages with its attendant tides, and swept north toward the teeming metropolitan areas of the East Coast.

The big storm posed perhaps its biggest threat to the upper East Coast as it rumbled along at from 17 to 22 miles per hour, whipped up winds of 125 miles per hour at its center.

Seashore residents in southern New England were evacuating their homes in the face of the giant blow. Residents of Long Island's east coast were advised to flee inland. Long Island beach clubs hired bulldozers to build ocean front walls of sand as protection against the expected battering of huge combers.

Frightened villagers here sought refuge in the sturdy lighthouses and in the Coast Guard stations dotting the outer banks as winds reached 70 miles per hour early Friday night. High tides swept across the beaches at little Kinnakeet Coast Guard station north of here and the ocean poured across low-lying Hatteras Island, cutting off the village of Hatteras.

Communication lines manned by veteran Coast Guardsmen were still open, but messages had to be shouted.

The raging seas cut entirely across the narrow island between the village of Buxton and Hatteras at the extreme eastern tip of this sentinel of the Atlantic.

The Miami weather bureau placed the "eye" of the giant storm in a 4 p.m., CST advisory, at 80 miles slightly east of south of Hatteras where the Coast Guard station reported "strong gales."

SLC Turns Down Enrollment Plea By 12 Negroes

HAMMOND, La., Sept. 10 —UP— Southeastern Louisiana College turned away 12 Negroes and the action set off the third move this year to force a white Louisiana College to accept members of the race.

The applicants, 10 women and two men, appeared for registration yesterday.

Southeastern President Luther Dyson refused admission, citing state segregation laws and the fact the state supported college is for white students. Southeastern is one of eight state colleges under supervision of the State Board of Education.

Attorney A. P. Tureaud Sr. New Orleans counsel for the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, said:

"I think legal steps will follow. But first we will ask the State Board of Education to reverse the school's refusal. This is the step we always follow before attempting legal action."

With NAACP support Negroes already have attempted to gain admission at Southwestern Louisiana Institute, Lafayette, and McNeese State College, Lake Charles.

Prosecution Witness At Batchelor Trial Speaks Good Word For Corporal

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 10—UP—A prosecution witness rose to the defense of ex - progressive Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor Friday and claimed Batchelor wanted to break off his affair with communism so badly he played sick and hid in the barracks of Chinese prison camp No. 5.

The witness was S-Sgt. John A. Wells of San Antonio, who also testified that Batchelor, 22, was a privileged character in camp No. 5. and accused his own country of deliberately losing ground in Korea to keep the stock market up.

Batchelor is being tried by a court martial on charges of collaboration with the enemy and informing on fellow prisoners of war in Korea. Under cross-examination by the defense, Wells described Batchelor as a "very, very good friend of mine in the camp."

Furthermore, he said, he considered him "outstanding" because he "got things done for the betterment of the POW's." It made no difference to Batchelor, he said, whether POW's were progressive, reactionary or apathetic.

When the Army's lawyers were questioning him, he said Batchelor ran Communist propaganda meetings, wrote articles for Communist magazines and public berated himself for not doing enough in the interest of peace.

As defense attorney Joel Westbrook cross-examined him, Wells said that in November, 1952, Batchelor tried to break away from the Chinese Communists. He said Batchelor pretended to be sick and hid in the barracks.

But, Wells claimed, the Chinese found him and took him first to the hospital for a physical examination. Then they took him to their headquarters, he said, and when Batchelor returned to his barracks later he was a stout progressive again.

The defense tried to adopt another Army witness, Conley Bennett, 25, of Kansas City, Kan. He said he saw Batchelor writing on a typewriter and Batchelor told him he was writing for the camp newspaper, "Toward Peace and Truth."

But he could not say what the article was about or whether it was ever printed and under cross-examination by the defense he gave Batchelor a testimonial.

Westbrook asked whether he was ever accused of stealing potatoes. Bennett said yes, and three other men, all "strong reactionaries," were accused with him.

"Isn't it true that Cpl. Batchelor saved all of you from hard labor for stealing those potatoes?" Westbrook said.

"Yes," Bennett said. He said Batchelor helped to get two of the reactionaries into the hospital later.

After Bennett's testimony took his turn, the Army announced it wanted to examine Bennett again and the trial was recessed until Monday.

home. However, as she attempted to help him to the other side of the front seat, he slumped over, members of the family said.

An ambulance was summoned, but he was pronounced dead on arrival at the St. Francis sanitarium.

Mr. Breard, after having retired from the automobile business, became superintendent of the James A. Noe Fish Hatchery, off the Sterlington Road. He maintained that position until he retired a few years ago. Since that time, he had been busying himself with managing his personal real estate interests.

He was the son of the late Dan Armand Breard, Sr., and Mary Bres Breard. His brothers and one sister are well-known throughout Monroe civic and business circles. They include Louis, Dan Armand, Jr., and Ernest Breard, and Mrs. Laura Breard Rinehart.

In addition to his brothers and sister, Mr. Breard is survived by his wife, Lady Bird Dixon Breard, one son, Herbert Lee, Jr., assistant manager of the Commercial Credit Corp. offices here, and five grandchildren.

A short funeral service will be held at the Hixson Bros. funeral home at 10:15 o'clock this morning, with a Requiem Mass to follow at the St. Matthews Catholic Church, with Monsignor J. C. Marsh officiating.

Pallbearers will be Armand D. Breard, Reneau Breard, Louis Breard, Jr., Sylvester Breard, Kirt Touchstone, Dick Touchstone, M. S. Dixon, Jr., and Joe H. Dixon.

Time To Quit Probing Probers, Roy Cohn Says

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 (AP)—Roy M. Cohn today said "the time has come to stop investigating the investigators" so they can get on with their task of tracking down Communists.

The former chief counsel of the Senate Investigating Committee headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) asserted:

"The time has come to stop petty bickering in this country among people who should be united.

"The time has come to stop investigating the investigators and allow the investigators to investigate our real enemies, the Communists."

Cohn's assertion evoked applause from members of the Executives Club.

Roosevelt Plans Floor Fight At Demo Convention

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. today promised a heated convention floor fight for the Democratic nomination for governor against attempts of Tammany and other party leaders to name Averell Harriman.

The late President's son sent out word he was in the fight to a finish. He emphasized it by saying he would not settle for second place—the nomination for lieutenant governor—at the Sept. 21-22 convention in New York.

Roosevelt's hopes of winning despite opposition of four of the state's most influential party leaders were boosted today when the CIO state convention in Albany endorsed his candidacy for the state's top post.

Roosevelt had backing also from some powerful upstate Democratic leaders, such as Daniel P. O'Connell, of Albany. But he still had a stiff, uphill fight in his quest for the governor's chair once occupied by his father on the latter's route to the White House.

He had been the apparent front runner until this week, after campaigning vigorously, mostly upstate.

Then came a rapid sequence of events.

Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey announced Tuesday he would not seek re-election.

The Republican leadership settled on Sen. Irving M. Ives as their choice for governor.

The Democratic leaders countered with a surprise, steamroller push for Harriman, former ambassador to Soviet Russia, former ambassador to Great Britain, and former secretary of commerce. They were:

National Committeeman Carmine G. DeSapio, who also is Tammany chieftain; Sen. Herbert H. Lehman; New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner; and Democratic State Chairman Richard H. Balch.

NORTH SCITUATE, R. I. —UP—A challenger for the title of oldest living box turtle has appeared. Ernest E. Cookson found turtle near his vegetable garden with the date "1836" carved on its undershell. If genuine, the turtle would have an eight-year edge on the present grand-daddy turtle now residing at the Bronx Zoo in New York.

Lodge Accuses

would be no reason for incidents which cause world tension.

The Council voted 10-1 over Vishinsky's objections to consider Lodge's complaint that the U.S. bomber was shot down Sept. 4 on international high seas in an "unwarranted and hostile attack" by two MIG-type Soviet planes.

Lodge recalled a series of incidents involving American planes shot down by the Soviet planes since 1950.

"It is the pattern of unprovoked attacks which is of greatest importance," Lodge told the Council. "These Soviet actions show a continuing disregard for the generally accepted standards of international conduct. This is very disturbing to the American government and to the American people.

"The United States is not the only nation to be victimized by such a hostile action. In recent times Soviet aircraft have attacked aircraft of Sweden, Great Britain, France and Belgium.

"These cases add emphasis to the evidence already presented. A common danger faces all of us if these attacks by Soviet aircraft are to be allowed to go unchallenged."

Lodge said the plane was on a routine daylight flight over the Sea of Japan for weather reports and antisubmarine surveillance in accordance with the United States-Japanese treaty for the defense of Japan.

Vishinsky replied that weather was being checked by "loaded machine guns" and demanded to know why American planes were carrying out patrols in the vicinity of Vladivostok. He answered his own question by saying the real purpose was radar reconnaissance.

"This is a crude violation of the basic standards of international law," Vishinsky concluded. "All responsibility for the incident of Sept. 4 and the attempt, being made to increase tension lies fully on the United States."

association expressed the opinion at this morning's breakfast that they don't want the chief executive to become a "political hack" but instead they want him to keep his campaign for a Republican majority in the House and Senate on a higher plane.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty and Appointment Secretary Tom Stevens were to meet with members of the association late Friday to help map plans for a concerted GOP drive.

The association embraces 21 states but two state GOP chairmen, from Oklahoma and Utah, were unable to attend the Denver gathering.

Mr. Eisenhower told newsmen after meeting with the GOP that its members had assured him they were working "for a Congress that will support me."

"And, of course, you know in our two-party system that means a Congress controlled by our party, the Republican party," he said.

Mr. Eisenhower continued that "for organizational and procedural purposes obviously it is necessary to have a Republican-organized House and Senate."

Johnson Pledges Fairness Toward Sen. McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) said today "I will do justice fairly and fearlessly" in the censure case against Sen. McCarthy despite what he called "unprecedented abuse and vilification of the Democratic party" by McCarthy.

Johnson made public a letter to McCarthy in which he defended the statement Johnson made in an interview with a Denver Post editor last March. At that time Johnson said all Democratic leaders in the Senate "loathed" McCarthy.

McCarthy cited this statement at the outset of the hearings last week by a special Senate committee into the censure charges filed against him. He demanded that Johnson, as a member of the six-member hearing committee, be called upon to say whether he had been correctly quoted.

Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) overruled McCarthy.

In the letter he made public today Johnson said he was merely reporting Democratic reaction to what he called "scurrilous and absolutely unwarranted' attacks by McCarthy in a series of Lincoln Day speeches last February on the Democrats as the "party of treason." Johnson is leaving the Senate to run for governor of Colorado this fall.

Quoting from McCarthy's speeches, Johnson told McCarthy "it would be strange indeed if, following a series of such bitter and vicious attacks they (Democratic leaders) did not loathe you."

stified and that "preference for a particular group of businessmen" will cost taxpayers from 92 to 150 million dollars.

He said if a local school board followed the same procedure, "It would be thrown out of office for malfeasance."

He said this is a typical example of how "big business" has controlled government under the Eisenhower administration, which he labeled "20 months of bickering, quarrelsome and divided leadership."

Mitchell said Eisenhower's budget director, Rowland R. Hughes, did not relay to the President objections from TVA directors and AEC commissioners. Eisenhower, after consulting Hughes, personally ordered the contract negotiations.

Mitchell demanded that a congressional investigation find out "why did Mr. Hughes fail in his duty to give the President a complete and accurate picture of the facts. . ." He said a red carpet was rolled out for the Dixon-Yates group while a competitor, who claimed he could save 150 million dollars, was given a "cold brushoff."

Arbenz has been accused of complicity in the 1949 ambush slaying of Col. Francisco Javier Aranha, then Guatemalan armed forces chief and his strongest political rival. A formal charge against Arbenz was placed before a tribunal of the Castillo regime in early July.

The welcomers at the Mexico City airport included only one Mexican government representative, the immigration inspector. The arrival of Arbenz presents Mexico with a touchy diplomatic problem in view of the declared intention of the Castillo regime to seek his extradition.

9-Year-Old Boy Dies Of Rabies

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A 9-year-old boy died from rabies today only hours after he was admitted to Parkland Hospital, clawing, biting and spitting.

The child was Ben Earl Ivery, the youngest of nine children of Mrs. Vessie Ivery.

The boy was first taken to Parkland July 18 after he was bitten by a stray dog, but his case was not diagnosed as rabies until yesterday, the mother said.

Parkland attendants said it took three doctors and two nurses to subdue the violently ill child so that anaesthetists could put him to sleep for a blood specimen. A young woman doctor must take rabies serum because of a scratch she received while helping with the patient.

10,000 Homeless In 'Quake Area Of Central Algeria

ORLEANSVILLE, Algeria, Sept. 10—UP—Six new tremors Friday rocked earthquake-devastated central Algeria, where 600 bodies had been removed from the rubble of this provincial seat and outlying villages.

Officials at disaster headquarters estimated that more than 1,000 were dead, 2,500 injured and at least 10,000 Frenchmen and Algerians homeless.

Ninety-five per cent of the buildings in this ancient town were destroyed or damaged so badly they were uninhabitable.

French Foreign Legionnaires imposed rigid martial law through the disaster area to prevent looting in the wrecked or flooded towns and villages, as well as to facilitate relief work.

The Algerian seismographic center registered 69 separate tremors in 24 hours. Fifteen were described as of "considerable intensity." The strongest was a 12-second quake Thursday which caused most of the damage.

The second strongest was a six-second tremor Friday, centering at nearby Tenes. All of the inhabitants of Tenes were evacuated to forestall new casualties. Authorities said any appreciable tremor now would topple many weakened buildings.

Intense heat obliged authorities to order the burial of the dead as fast as possible. As the bodies were taken to an emergency morgue, they were washed and placed on wooden slabs. All those not identified by late in the day were buried in mass graves.

At least a score were so badly disfigured that identification was impossible.

Bulldozers sent from Algiers chugged through the streets of Orleansville, clearing away stone to permit free passage along the main thoroughfares.

Electricity, gas and water still were cut off here.

Some small shops reopened, the merchants hawking dust-coated wares in front of their damaged quarters.

Almost 500 persons had been sent by train or plane or highway to Algiers or Oran for emergency treatment. The French air force maintained shuttle service, with a junker plane taking off every 15 minutes for Algiers with injured aboard.

Populous East

said it expected possible hurricane force winds on eastern Long Island Saturday and gale winds in the New York city area. Airlines officials at La Guardia Field were awaiting further reports before taking action although American Airlines said it may be forced to cancel 21 flights at La Guardia Saturday for lack of hangar space.

Pick 3rd There is

There is only the "slimmest hope" that the New York metropolitan area will escape the full fury of the storm, said James Osgoun, assistant chief meteorologist of the nation's greatest city.

The hurricane center was expected to pass close to Cape Hatteras at midnight as the cape jutted across its course paralleling the Carolina shore. The Boston weather bureau said that the storm was expected to pass the island of Nantucket below Cape Cod Saturday morning.

The Boston bureau ordered hurricane warnings hoisted along the entire New England coast from Block Island northward.

Flash flooding from hurricane tides was predicted for the Connecticut shore and for the waterfront of Norfolk, Va.

At Jacksonville, Fla., a veteran Navy hurricane hunter, Lt. Miller Bell of Savannah, Ga., said he flew his twin-engined plane in and around Edna for 13 hours Thursday. The storm is "every bit" as destructive as last weeks hurricane Carol, Bell said, and covers more territory with hurricane winds extending 150 miles from the center.

"I guess we flew roughly 100 miles just trying to circle it," Bell said, and still only got three-fourths around the hurricane.

Edna was expected to reach the New York-Long Island area early Saturday, and the New England area later in the day. Hurricane Carol killed 66 and dealt out $300 million damage in New England 10 days ago.

As the hurricane swirled north parallel to the Carolina coast the 45,000-ton battleship Iowa and the giant aircraft carriers Saipan and Mindoro steamed out of the Norfolk, Va., naval base to ride out the blow at sea. The light cruiser Juneau and 80 smaller vessels also anchored in Chesapeake Bay.

Some Norfolk streets may be flooded by hurricane tides Friday night, the weather bureau warned. Merchants hauled their goods from waterfront stores.

In New York, still hundreds of miles north of the storm, swank Park Avenue apartments rolled in their awnings. An overcast fell over the city and blustery winds whipped through the skyscraper canyons. A 3:30 p. m. advisory by the New York weather bureau said the storm is still "in a threatening position" as far as the city is concerned but that its exact path through the area could not yet be determined.

At Hartford, Connecticut civil defense director William Hesketh urged shoreline residents to evacuate their homes before midnight. He said weather bureau information indicated the Connecticut shore would experience flash floods during the night with waters higher than those spewed up by Carol.

Ernest Christie, chief of the New York weather bureau, said the hurricane "poses a serious threat" to New York. Coast Guard trucks traveled the 100-mile length of Long Island to put residents on the alert. About 300 vacationers were evacuated from Fire Island, which was struck by last week's hurricane. Long Island air field buttoned up and Mitchel Air Force Base prepared to disperse its planes.

Rising winds and tides heralded Edna's approach to lonely, storm-swept capes which also felt Carol's rage. The Miami weather bureau issued hurricane warnings for the North Carolina coast from Morehead City, 60 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, northward. Storm warnings fluttered from Myrtle Beach, S.C., to Eastport, Me.

Morehead City, the state's second largest port, went on emergency status as the mighty storm churned through the Atlantic within 200 miles of the South Carolina coast. Its northerly course would bring the northwest quadrant of its hurricane winds against the jutting North Carolina capes about midnight.

The wind was clocked early Friday afternoon at 65 miles an hour — 10 below hurricane strength — on Frying Pan shoals lightship 65 miles off the North Carolina coast.

Lake Bayou

Now who's done set the woods on fire.
Hey, Ranger — go catch those guys—
The ones that live down on the bayous.
They are hot roding the fish, head lighting the deer;
Won't be a one left next year.
Their hunting out of season is to blame,
That's why us sports can find no game.
How much should we take along for the snake bite?
Old Joe is already high as a kite.
Four or five fifths should be enough
Then we will get some other stuff.
Well here we are down on the bayou,
That mans directions — just a dog gone liar.
Would have' told us the right way down here
If I hadn't run over his dog last year.
Knowed he was mad about that pup
That's the reason I didn't slow up.
Let's pitch camp, then look around
Joe, be sure and tie the hounds.
The howling hounds, the blowing horns
Here it is, opening morn.
A buck comes by in an awful hurry
Shot at many times with a "thirty-thirty."
A native downs him with a shot gun blast
Here comes a sport riding fast.
"He's half mine," the sport yells
Old Trig was running him, and so was old "Hell."
Four big bucks killed ahead of our pack
That's why our dogs are not back.
Any stray dogs have you seen
A spotted one that answers to the name of "Queen."
Plenty of does again this year,
I'd kill me one if I lived down here.
Yeah! that's her, here Queen' here.
Well, see you again next year.

FOODS IN SEPTEMBER

September markets will offer good buys in many fresh vegetables. (Beef and vegetable combinations are suggested as a feature for the last week of the month.) The record - large rice crop this year puts rice among the plentifuls. Fluffy cooked rice is a favorite accompaniment for brown beef stews, gumbo or chicken fricasee and makes good stuffing for turkey. Fresh and processed lemons and limes and salad oils and vegetable shortenings will continue plentiful. For sweetening there will be lots of new-crop honey.

Further Discussion On Fluoridation Set

Because of the impending appeal of the issue of fluoridation of municipal water supplies to the U. S. Supreme Court by the City of Shreveport, a second general meeting for discussion of the local fluoridation issue will be held next Tuesday in the office of John E. Coon, mayor.

Both those favoring, and those opposing the project, have been invited to attend the meeting.

It has been pointed out that an estimated $20,000 expenditure by the city for the project would be unwise until the issue has been decided by the nation's highest court.

King Cotton And You

(PART III)

(The Morning World continues its discussion of the Cotton situation in this state. In the following article, the World will discuss the ramifications of this year's drouth on business in this area over a period of several years to come. The Morning World hopes to impress on the people of this area the great importance of Cotton on the local market and its citizens. The cooperation of the Farm Bureau and Delta Council officials has made a most difficult job into a relatively simple preparation of facts. To both organizations, the Morning World sends its thanks. The Editor.)

In any consideration of the area Cotton market, the effects of the drouth must be entered into the picture. This year, it is estimated that due to the drouth, the cotton crop will be far (25-35%) off normal yield. Moreover, the acreage had been considerably dropped over the year before, making things far worse for the grower.

It is unfortunately necessary to bear in mind that this is apparently no "one-year proposition." Long range forecasters are predicting a generally "drier" region for this part of the country. The history (geologically speaking) of the entire United States shows a gradual shift in climes from one year to the next. The future planning for this area's cotton growers had best be along irrigation lines.

Such lines (if that is what they can really be called) are already under consideration by some growers. In fact, there are serious worries concerning some of the lakes and bayous of the area which are reportedly going dry. Under Public Law 597 which was formerly applicable for the Western States, all 48 states can appeal to the government for irrigation aid. Such should be put to use in this section of the state under long range planning perhaps sparked by the Delta Council and the Farm Bureau.

The Federal Reserve Bank in Atlanta issued a recent statement to the effect that percentagewise, the agricultural South was "off." Agriculturally speaking, the South is "off" some 32% while the State of Louisiana is one percentage point lower at 31. This is, of course, reflected in the national credit agencies, the planning of large merchantile industries and the general economy picture of the entire area.

It is reflected in the cotton by-products industries such as Cotton Seed Oil, fats, fertilizer and other associated and related fields. The Delta Council officials feel that the ramifications of this year's drouth will not be fully felt for another year or so. These people are worried about a gradual decline in the agricultural economy of the entire area.

That being the case, the entire area and all its citizens will feel a "pinch" as the Monroe area is very decidedly an agricultural section. In any case, long range planning may help to eliminate some of the coming difficulties.

Under the present government program, there are four types of drouth relief: The first is the Regular Emergency Loan through the Farmer's Home Administration. The second is the special agricultural conservation assistance in drouth areas. The third is a Federal-State Cooperative Hay Program. The fourth and final is the special feed and grain program.

Under any of these four, relief can be attained when and if that particular area is designated as a drouth area. So far (to the end of August) the following states had been designated as drouth areas: Colorado, 24 counties; Texas, 75 counties; Wyoming, 13 counties; New Mexico, 24 counties; Oklahoma, 37 counties; Missouri, 76 counties; Arkansas, 37; Kansas, 30. The Western States (as usual) are "doing well" under the present setup with several of the Southern States also taking part and being designated as drouth areas.

Unfortunately, action by Louisiana Republicans with the exception of Bryant James of Farmerville, was not taken. Even though Senator Ellender and Congressman Otto Passman have repeatedly questioned the Federal Administration about the prospects for drouth aid, there has been none forthcoming.

The "leader" of the Louisiana Republicans, John Minor Wisdom, of New Orleans, apparently doesn't know a soybean from a cotton plant and is therefore in no position to take action. It is believed that he should have listened to his advisors from the Northern part of the state and used what influence he has (if any) as GOP state committeeman to get the necessary aid.

Politically speaking, the Republicans in Louisiana are now in dreadful shape. By taking prompt action, the GOP administration could have made many friends and allies in Louisiana besides doing a good thing for the people of the state.

Much of this blame cannot honestly be placed on either Mr. Eisenhower or Mr. Benson, but foursquare on Wisdom who should have been "calling the shots" as he was supposed to have seen them. There are other Republican "sleepers" who have lost the ball for the party in this situation. After all, cotton is King in this section whether the local, state and national Republicans realize it or not.

It is imperative that the drouth program be instituted in this area by the simple designation of the area as one which has been endangered by the drouth. On the other hand, to circumvent in the future, this bad situation, it is equally imperative for the farmers to get together and draft plans for the years to come, plans which can save the faltering cotton crops.

On the national level, it is reported that Secretary Benson is planning to cut the acreage next year to 17,000,000. The Farm Bureau states that it is a vital necessity to maintain at least 21,000,000 acres. Such a cut as is reportedly planned would mean a severe cut in Southern acreage. Such a cut seemingly could not be received by the farmers of this area after this year.

Nor could such a cut be taken in this area businesswise as it is certain that all segments of the business community will also feel the "pinch."

To state that a general cut in the price of cotton (from the farmer) will help the consumer is as fallacious as stating that the flooding Mississippi river will help the duck growing program in Minnesota. "It jest ain't so."

Drouth, foreign and domestic competition and the Farm subsidies are great problems to the cotton farmer. In tomorrow's concluding editorial on "King Cotton," the Morning World will discuss the future of the situation and the necessity for increased cotton promotion.

George Sokolsky

THESE DAYS

On Senility

It would seem that thus far one of the principal charges against Senator Joe McCarthy before the Watkins committee is that he is a harsh, gruff man whose selectivity of words is inadequate to conform with senatorial etiquette. He is said to use base and degrading language about his colleagues. In a word, he is accused of being something of a boor in very polite society. He calls other senators bad names; he has not yet been accused of sticking out his tongue, which he well might do.

The worst word he used is apparently senile. He has been accused of calling Senator Ralph Flanders senile. He is also being accused of referring to other senators in language to which Marines but not senators are accustomed. He is accused of saying that one, Hendrickson of New Jersey, had no guts. Guts is an ugly word. Joe should have used the word, colon, but nobody would have known what he meant, except those whose colon is a problem to them. He might have said that Hendrickson lacked a colon. He might also have used the word, derma, which some people stuff with a mixture of suet, flour and spices and then eat.

As to the senility of Senator Flanders, that is a measurable matter. It is possible to determine medically whether the senator from Vermont or any other senator possesses faculties which have so degenerated that no longer is he able to employ them adequately. Age has nothing to do with it. Herbert Hoover at 80 is younger, to my certain knowledge, than he was at 60. Bernard Baruch at 84 is so active that he tires out his friends. Mrs. Fritz Kreisler at 85 can argue a younger man to a standstill.

However and alas, there comes a time when the blood vessels do pinch off from too much cholesterol or for some other reason and there can be a limp or a twitch or just a plain loss of the capacity for prolonged cerebration. I once knew a statesman—let him be nameless—who could only work two or three hours a day and then he would fall asleep. The world regarded him as a great man; his secret was well-kept by those who did his thinking for him.

The Watkins committee called in two Associated Press reporters to prove that Joe said naughty things about his colleagues. They should have called us all in and we might testify as to what most senators say about their colleagues, but not for publication. The trouble with Joe is that he talks too much for publication and often too truthfully. Had he studied the technique of Talleyrand, who was one of history's really great statesmen, he would have learned perhaps that public men speak the whole truth only when they are alone with their consciences.

Senile is a harsh word and I now understand Senator Flanders' pursuing anger. The fear, with all of us, is that it might be true. On the other hand, it may only be hyperinsulinism, the favorite new ailment which is very expensive and therefore important. It is much cheaper to buy a mink coat than to fight hyperinsulinism. Or it may be a creeping forgetfulness. Or it may be nothing more than pains and aches from brittleness and calcium deposits. Who can really tell but a physician or a psychiatrist?

Men do grow old, some of them at a very early age. A class reunion is the most unhappy of all events, after the 25th year, because nobody can really look and act as old as the other fellow. Many of my classmates are grandfathers and revel in being patriarchs. Perhaps even more distressing is to permit curiosity to drive you to have lunch with the girl you left behind a quarter of a century ago. And all the time you wonder whether she thinks the same about you. It is sad to grow venerable except in an older China where the ancient ones were respected for being so.

And thus, we come back to Joe. Maybe he should be censured for calling Flanders senile. He should have been more polite to a fellow Republican. All he may say is that the old duffer . . . but who am I to put words in an Irish Marine's mouth?

News Sources

James Reston (the N. Y. Times Washington reporter) and Joe Alsop (who covers the Capitol for the syndicates) refused to reveal their sources of news before a Senate Investigating Committee in secret session very recently . . . Senator Mundt sustained both . . . That was why I told Senator Watkins (and the Select Senate Committee Investigating Senator McCarthy) I would not reveal mine, even if I knew the person who handed me the copy of the 2½ page FBI summary (to General Bolling) on Communists suspects.

Besides testifying in the Caucus Room for about one hour I went over most of it in Senator Watkins' office earlier for more than an hour . . . When I told Mr. Watkins and his counsel how I came into possession of the paper, I added: "Senator, if I were probing to get at the bottom of something and was given the story I just gave you, I would probably say: 'Hmmmmm, a Likely Story.' "

That was why (on the stand) I tried to get right to the point: That I would not reveal the source of my information . . . I also said that to the Senator and his counsel in his office . . . At no time did any of the Select Senators (or counsel) badger, bait or bulldoze me. A fair shake all around.

In the Senator's office I reminded them that everything I told them had been made public by the Associated Press, which interviewed me regarding that document last mid-May . . . That I was the first to make public the fact that I had a copy of the letter; that I went to the highest law enforcement agent in the FBI with it as soon as I could see him the same shadown; that I destroyed it about ten days later by burning it.

"Why did you do that?" I was asked. "Because I have been a naval officer for 20 years, much of the time in U. S. Naval Intelligence, and I knew such a paper should be destroyed."

I was subpena'd because one of Sen. Flanders' charges against Senator McCarthy is that he "knowingly permitted" the summary to get into my hands . . . I could not swear that Mr. McCarthy knowingly permitted it . . . I swore that Mr. McCarthy was not the person who gave it to me . . . That it did not come directly from any of his staff; the members of it (that is) I know personally . . . I told them: "Surely if it was handed to me by McCarthy, Cohn, Carr, Juliana or Surine — as I was engaged in conversation with several reporters (outside the Caucus Room during a brief recess)—some reporter would have remembered that. And he would have so notified his editor or the Select Senate group."

While I covered the Army-McCarthy Hearings for Sidelights & Highlights I received offerings from many of the reporters. Stuff they couldn't use, such as: "Have you noticed that McCarthy, Carr and Cohn today are all wearing gray suits?" . . . Or: "Television has some of the committee wearing blue shirts," etc. During that recess (outside the Caucus Room) when I was handed the summary now in controversy, I received some other bits of folded paper from passersby, spectators, Senate attaches and so on . . . When you are busy gabbing or listening and several people hand you tidbits of news, you merely turn slighty to acknowledge with "a thanks" nod, and go on talking . . . That's what I did . . . I did not get a good look at the person who gave me that paper, which incidentally, is so full of nothing you wouldn't print it, even if you were permitted to do so.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

Then, What?

Boys and girls, you of the "teenage" group, consider this important point of behavior: "What then? If I do it, what happens next?" If you will practice this one thought over and over day after day when you plan some action, or are asked to go along with a group-planned action, you will save yourselves a lot of embarrassment, if not worse.

You live as individuals. No matter how big the group you must after all is said and done, separate and become individuals again, each responsible for whatever action he shared, each to stand alone in the judgment of the situation.

When, for example, a group of students rush into a bus, trample the passengers, behave in rowdy fashion, destroy property, there comes the time of retribution. Merged in the group each feels no responsibility, but when the group falls apart, as it must, it falls into units, one and one and one. "You," says the Judge, "You" says the father and mother, "You," say the community. No longer the group, but "You."

If when any group masses in a headlong rush, if when a group suggests that "We" do what no individual alone would dare do, each stopped to ask himself, "And what then?"—very little of the trouble an unleashed group causes would ever rise.

Temptation comes to everybody. Young people feel under restraint and long for freedom. Inexperience in life's ways, they are likely to make mistakes if they refuse to accept guidance and authority. Their parents and teachers, knowing the consequences of wrong actions, or youthful mistakes, insist on the restraints and on compliance. Now and then a young person rebels and goes his mistaken way and gets into trouble.

If before he cheated in the test, if before he went on the forbidden trip, he had taken a long breath and asked himself, 'What then? What will come of this?" — he would make fewer mistakes and save himself and other people a great deal of grief.

"I didn't think it would be this way," sobbed a girl who had disobeyed her parents and gone on a ride with a group of school friends. "I didn't know—" We all know. We want to do what we want to do and the only safeguard we have is our intelligence. It asks that we stop and say, "What then? What will come of this?" If the answer is a safe assurance, fine. If not, better stop when stopping is possible.

Foreign Trade Showdown

History is likely to repeat itself during the next Congress—as it frequently does—when President Eisenhower once more pushes his program for a liberalized foreign trade policy, including numerous tariff reductions, to implement the "trade, not aid" slogan coined at the State Department.

No Republican administration and no Republican minority in Congress has ever given much thought to proposals for improvement of our foreign relations by removal of trade barriers, meaning tariffs and other import regulations. The reciprocal trade treaties of New Deal days, fathered by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, were supported by a few Republicans, with the majority of the party in strong opposition.

As time went on and trade with Europe was reestablished after World War II, Republican sentiment for lower trade barriers increased. Now there is a definite party cleavage on the whole subject of foreign trade, with Eisenhower caught in the middle.

On the one hand, he has Rep. Richard M. Simpson of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, leading the advocates of increased tariffs on many imports. On the other, he has Harold E. Stassen, director of the ambigously named Foreign Operations Administration, who urges that purchases for the account of the United States government, to be used in foreign nations should be split between Un. S. and foreign producers.

There is about as wide a gap in Republican thinking on foreign trade as could be possible. This difference of opinion might do more to divide the party in Congress, and Eisenhower supporters the country over than any other administration proposal.

When Herbert Hoover took over in 1929 as the last Republican president before Eisenhower, he was persuaded by the late Senator William E. Borah (Rep.-Idaho) and other western senators that the farmers needed more tariff protection against imports to protect their domestic market. Hoover agreed and that U. S. industry joined in the game with a whoop. The result was the Smoot-Hawley tariff act, which raised already high import duties. European countries, most of them already in a serious business depression, complained they were being shut out of American markets, and some of them tried to shut out U. S. goods in reprisal.

It would be inaccurate to say that the international tariff war brought on the great depression of the '30s, but it did result in a sharp decline in American exports and shutting down of plants. It coincided with the beginning of the great wave of unemployment which swept the country.

The United States is now losing foreign markets against competition of western Europe and Japan. Those competitors are complaining that they cannot have more of the American market. U. S. producers of all types of goods say that a general lowering of existing tariffs, which is implicit in the "trade not aid" program would limit their domestic markets to an extent that could only mean increased unemployment, and reduced dividends.

They could not recoup, many of them say, though increased foreign trade, because of the more advantageous position of foreign producers who can manufacture and sell more cheaply, grant longer credits, and in numerous instances, are able to negotiate more satisfactory trade agreements with other foreign countries. One U. S. weakness—about which there is nothing new—is the apparent inability of this government to help develop foreign markets through a strong foreign trade agency under either the Department of State of the Department of Commerce, with representatives abroad separate from our diplomatic service.

Our reciprocal trade agreements are said by their critics to be only pieces of paper with no provision that U. S. manufacturers shall receive so much business, in return for such preferences as can legally be given by this country. This is a difficult problem, because it smacks of barter which this government has always adjured. Soviet Russia which has no such inhibitions is grabbing business from U. S. manufacturers.

Communist Party Ban Tops List Of New Anti-Red Laws

WASHINGTON — The 83rd Congress, in effect, snapped handcuffs on U. S. Communist activity, but left the Reds foot-loose if not fancy free.

Eight of the 15 requests by the Eisenhower administration for anti-subversive legislation were enacted. In addition, Congress passed three anti - Red measures the administration didn't ask for. Most of the action came in the final days of the second session.

The administration was against outlawing the Communist party, but Congress passed such legislation as part of a bill aimed at "Communist-infiltrated" labor organizations.

As enacted, though, the bill does not provide penalties for Communist party membership.

In line with administration requests, Congress swiftly approved six proposals to facilitate detection or conviction of subversives which:

Made peacetime espionage a capital offense; provided more funds for security investigations; extended the statute of limitations in certain non - capital punishment felony cases; broadened laws relating to sabotage to include such actions as use of radio-active, chemical or biological agents; made bail - jumping in federal cases a separate criminal offense; increased penalties for harboring fugitives.

Two other administration bills—to take citizenship from persons guilty of conspiring to overthrow the government and to grant immunity to witnesses in order to compel them to testify — were modified by Congress but reached the president in recognizable form.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., asked for authority to grant immunity to witnesses testifying on security matters. But Congress passed and the President signed a measure to place ultimate authority in the U. S. district courts. It provides for justification of the attorney general.

President Eisenhower's recommendation or legislation to deprive of their citizenship persons convicted of conspiring to advocate the overthrow of the government met stiff opposition in Congress but survived in modified form.

Opponents argued that existing laws — the Alien Registration (Smith) Act and the Immigration and Nationality (McCarran-Walter) Act already provided for loss of certain citizenship privileges and nationality. Constitutionality of such a proposal also was questioned.

As passed, the bill, provided for loss of "nationality" if it were proved a person "willfully" performed an act directed at overthrow of the government.

Though Brownell said a measure to outlaw the Communist party would interfere with existing anti-subversive laws and would make the Reds harder to catch, the Senate embraced a Democratic-sponsored outlawry amendment and Congress in the end passed a toned - down version as part of the bill to deny legal status to Communist - infiltrated labor groups.

Brownell had asked for a bill furnishing "machinery for dissolving" such labor organizations, but this more drastic proposal was rejected by the House judiciary committee.

Besides the combination Communist party ban and Red labor union bill, Congress enacted a law requiring Communist - front or Communist-action groups to register their printing equipment. The administration did not request this.

Congress also passed a measure denying pension benefits to federal employees convicted of felonies or who refuse to testify on grounds of self-incrimination. The administration didn't ask for this either. But the measure included a provision extending the statute of limitations in certain cases from three to five years — an administration request.

The administration sought other legislation to tie the hands of U. S. Communists but Congress didn't supply it. Requests which failed to get through would:

Allow the use of wiretap evidence in federal courts in national security cases; give rewards for information leading to detection of smuggling or illegal possession of atomic weapons; require persons with espionage or sabotage training to register; tighten registration requirements of the Foreign Agents Registration Act; authorize the president to bar potential subversives from vital defense facilities, and amend perjury laws so that proof of contradictory statements of a witness would alone support a perjury conviction—present law requires proof as to which of the inconsistent statements is false.

Quarter-Million-Dollar Shopping Center Is In Works In West Monroe

A new quarter-million dollar shopping center, to rest on $90,000 property in West Monroe's business district, was in the works Friday morning as two Winnsboro brothers announced their purchase of lands fronting on three downtown streets.

The brothers, Quentin and J. W. McLemore, Jr., completed three months of negotiations at noon yesterday with the final details of the real estate transfer. They met with the present owners of the property, and attorneys, in the office of Monroe lawyer M. C. Thompson in Monroe.

The land is an L-shaped plot fronting on Cypress, Trenton and Crosley Streets in West Monroe, several blocks out of the heart of West Monroe. It fronts 200 feet on Cypress, taking in the land on which Wolf's Bakery is now located; 330 feet on Trenton, where the large residence of West Monroe laundry owner, Charles Chisholm, now is, and the whole block of Crosley.

Climaxing several months of negotiations, the sale was worked out by H. L. Rosenhein, Monroe realtor, who represented the McLemore brothers. The law firm of Thompson and Thompson and Attorney Murray Hudson handled the legal procedures.

According to J. W. McLemore, who at 35 is the older of the brothers, the proposed supermarket in West Monroe may cost a total of a quarter of a million to a half-million." The building itself will cost at least $150,000, he said.

Blueprints for the supermarket are already being drawn up and should be completed within the next 90 days. Plans are for the contracts for construction of the building to be let during the early part of 1955, if there are no delays.

The property purchased Friday morning was obtained from four persons. L. E. Bayer of Shreveport, received $30,000 for the property on which Wolf's Bakery now stands; Chisholm was paid $47,500 for his house and land; E. R. Russell was paid $9,975 for his house and land, and Rev. E. L. Tanner received $2,100 for his lot.

According to information released by the McLemore brothers, who now operate a Jitney Jungle store in Winnsboro with their father, J. W., Sr., the grocery department of the store will occupy 25,000 feet of floor space, with other departments to be added later.

When completed, the store will be a one-stop shopping center, which will employ about 80 persons, the brothers said.

The parking lot will be 140 feet by 432 feet, comprising the length of the block on Crosley.

The place in West Monroe is expected to be another unit of the Jitney Jungle chain, which has some 300 stores located in eleven Southern states, the brothers said.

The McLemore store in Winnsboro has had a Jitney Jungle franchise since 1926.

Quinten McLemore, who will manage the store here, is 33 years old, and is married to the former Margaret McNeil of Frisco City, Ala. They have two sons, Randy, 10, and Sidney, 7, and three daughters, Sue, 16 months, and twins, Mary Ann and Martha Jan, 5.

J. W. McLemore, married to the former Nell Dailey, of Extension, has two sons, J. W., III, 10, and David, 4.

Motorist Stricken By Heart Attack, Dies After Crash

A 60-year-old Keithville man, stricken with a heart attack at the wheel of his automobile as he traveled toward Monroe on highway 80 east of Monroe Friday morning, was reported dead on arrival at Charity hospital minutes later.

Dr. J. T. French, Ouachita parish coroner, said M. L. Ramsey, of the little community near Shreveport, apparently was rendered unconscious by the attack and his auto lurched out of control, striking a soft drink truck and careened into a bridge abutment about 10 miles from Monroe.

Dr. French said the man was evidently not injured in the crash and attributed death to the heart failure.

Hall Funeral home prepared late yesterday to ship the body to Mansfield for burial. Funeral arrangements had not been completed.

Ambulance attendants called almost immediately to the scene, said Ramsey revived in the ambulance and talked to the attendants.

They said Ramsey told them he had been stricken earlier in the morning, and stopped at Delhi for some medicine. He blacked out, however, as he drove through the swamp.

Drouth Emergency Measures Stymied By Decision Lags

U. S. Department of Agriculture officials said Friday that no decision has been reached concerning drouth disaster aid for north Louisiana parishes, and investigation must be continued before a final finding can be made.

Rep. Otto E. Passman said Friday night that the department informed him that a "lack of information precluded a favorable decision at this time," and indicated that the investigation would continue.

Passman said a meeting of department representatives has been set for next week in Alexandria with state and parish drouth committeemen present.

Alexandria Police Take Custody Of 2 Theft Suspects

Two Negroes arrested separately here this week, were returned by Alexandria authorities to that city yesterday to face charges for an alleged joint automobile theft, Sheriff Bailey Grant and the Monroe City Detectives reported.

The two are Albert Sanders, 35, and Ples Jones, 29.

Sanders was taken into custody by the Louisiana State Police, and was charged with drunk driving. It is reported that State Police did not readily identify the stolen car because the license plates had been switched. He was being held in the parish jail when it ws learned that Alexandria authorities wanted him on the automobile theft charge.

Jones was jailed by City Detectives Sunday on charges of being drunk and disorderly, and had been sentenced to a jail term on the count in Monroe City Court. He was being held in the Monroe city jail.

The percentage of U. S. children between 5 and 17 not attending any school increased from 12.7 in 1951 to 13.2 in 1953.

Cuba Agrees To Cut Export Quota Of Raw Sugar

LONDON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The International Sugar Council today estimated the world market surplus of raw sugar in 1954 at 254,000 metric tons and said Cuba agreed to cut its export quota by 66,000 metric tons.

The 24-nation council adopted after a three day meeting in London a revised estimate of free market requirements for 1954 of 4,330,000 metric tons raw value compared with the May 7 estimate of 3,864,000 metric tons.

"On the basis of existing quotas of participating countries and probable exports from non-participating countries," a communique said, "the council estimated the excess of supplies available for the free market over requirements at approximately 254,000 metric tons."

Information on the voluntary cuts accepted by other exporting countries was not immediately available.

Explaining the cuts, the communique said: "The council after taking into account the parts of quotas not to be used, considered and endorsed a plan recommending voluntary reduction of exports sufficient to relieve the market of the excess."

The spokeman said that the council took no decision on price adjustments, trusting that the cuts in the export quotas will keep prices within the acceptable bracket.

The council, which represents the principal sugar exporting and importing countries of the world, met here from Sept. 8 to 10 under the chairmanship of Baron Kronacker of Belgium. The council is charged under the international sugar agreement of 1953 with keeping the world sugar market in balance through price and export quotas controls.

Lawsuit Against Doctor, Hospital Is Rejected Here

Dr. Charles M. Lobrano, the St. Francis Sanitarium and the Aetna Casualty and Surety Co., who were defendants in a $101,665 civil suit which charged negligence in the application of X-ray therapy, and in whose favor Judge Jesse Heard rendered a decision yesterday, will face a new court test soon.

The decision in their favor will be appealed to the Circuit Court of Appeals by the plaintiffs and will probably be on the Fall docket, it is reported.

Judge Heard, in Fourth District court yesterday, rejected the pleas of the plaintiffs, Mrs. and Mrs. Edward Thomas, citing as his reason that "the plaintiffs had failed to make out their cause by a preponderance of evidence." He ordered the plaintiffs to pay all costs.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas had filed the suit, charging that alleged X-ray burns sustained by Mrs. Thomas were caused through the negligence of Dr. Lobrano and the hospital. Mrs. Thomas had asked $97,500 for damages, and her husband asked $4,165.01 expenses incurred.

Considerable interest in the case was aroused in the city when the trial was held last Spring, and the courtroom was frequently packed during several days of lengthy sessions. Testimony, when transcribed is reported to have run well over 1,000 legal pages.

The case, if appealed, will be reviewed in the Circuit Court of Appeals by Judges H. W. Ayers, E. L. Gladney and George Hardy.

Body Of Lieutenant Being Shipped Home

BASTROP, Sept. 10 (Special)—The body of U. S. Army Lt. Don Bischer, killed near here late Thursday in an automobile accident on highway 165, will be returned to Cincinnati, Ohio, for burial Friday night.

Bischer, a native of Cincinnati, met death at the overpass south of Bonita when he lost control of his auto and plunged into the guard railing. His wife, a passenger with him, was slightly injured.

Blackwell - Golden funeral home of Bastrop said the body will leave Collinston at 7:30 p.m. Friday for Cincinnati.

Two-Gun Bandit Takes $125,000 In Bank Holdup

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 10—(UP)—A gunman armed with two pistols robbed the Dishman State Bank at nearby Dishman Friday and escaped with $125,000 in currency.

Bank Manager Glen Harrington told sheriff's officers the man had entered the building through a rear window and met him as he opened the bank at 9 a. m. The gunman quietly ordered him to open the vault and give him the money which he stuffed into a box.

As other employes arrived, they were herded into a nearby room. When the bandit had scooped up the money he fled in what was believed to be a red business coupe which had been noticed parked outside.

Carolyn Trapp Says Vows In Chase Baptist Church

A wedding claiming wide interest was that of Miss Carolyn Trapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos R. Trapp, of Chase, La., and Rev. Wilburn S. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Taylor, West Monroe, which took place at Chase Baptist Church, with Rev. Jimmy Lee Epinette officiating at the double ring service.

Baskets of white gladioli and greenery banked the chancel, and branched candelabra held white tapers. Pews for the families were designated by bows of white maline.

Mrs. Elton Stigall, aunt of the bride, rendered the nuptial music, during which time, the ushers, Rev. Murray Smith of New Orleans and Mr. Julius Wink, of West Monroe, seated the guests.

The candle - lighters were Misses Mary Lou Cupit and Ruby Parnell, wearing ice blue organza, with wrist corsages of white carnations.

The soloist, Miss Sylvia Vickers sang "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer" as the benediction.

Miss Mary Lou Taylor, the bride's only attendant, wore pink organza over matching taffeta, and carried an arm bouquet of pink asters, with a spray of the same flowers in her hair.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white organza over white taffeta which was ankle - length, with fitted bodice finished with Peter Pan collar and cap sleeves. Her half hat of white was complimented with a short veil, and she carried a white Bible surmounted with a purple orchid and caught with matching tulle.

Mrs. Trapp chose for her daughter's wedding a becoming dress of navy and white linen with a corsage of feathered white carnations. Mrs. Taylor, mother of the bridegroom, wore charcoal grey with white accents and a corsage of white carnations.

Mr. Robert L. Taylor, Jr., served his brother as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the brides grandmother, Mrs. Sara Stigell. The bridal table was overlaid with lace, and the wedding cake was placed at one end. The punch bowl, surrounded by greenery, was at the other end.

Mrs. Devon Johnson served the cake and Miss Maude Beasley poured the punch. Misses Billie Joy Taylor and Libby Parnell assisted in the courtesies, and Miss Barbara Trapp, sister of the bride, registered the guests.

For a trip to Hot Springs and Memphis, the bride changed to aqua linen and wore the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

Mrs. Taylor was graduated from Gilbert High School, and is now completing a course in business administration at B. M. I. in Monroe. Rev. Taylor was graudated from Ouachita Parish High School, and received his B. A. degree from Louisiana College; received his master's in theology at New Orleans Seminary, and will continue work on his doctor. of divinity while pastoring the Chase Baptist Church.

Bridal Parties

A lovely courtesy extended Miss Trapp prior to her marriage to Rev. Wilburn Taylor, was the tea shower in the social room of the First Baptist Church, West Monroe, with Mesdames S. H. Heard, Earl Ferguson, R. E. Wilson, John M. Parker, Ed Hislop, Jr., and Mrs. W. D. Albritton, the hostesses.

Summer flowers decorated the room for the occasion and the guest of honor wearing an orchid cotton, was presented a corsage of pink hibiscus.

Miss Faye Parker presided at the guest book and Sandy Lawn rendered appropriate music during the hours.

Punch was served from a huge crystal bowl fringed with greenery, and trays of individual wedding cakes were passed among the large number of guests including the mother of the honoree, Mrs. C. R. Trapp, of Chase. An arrangement of pink rose buds centered the table which held the array of beautiful gifts including silver, crystal, and china in her wedding pattern, as well as other useful items. The gift of the hostesses was a meat fork in the bride's silver.

She also was named guest of honor at a beautiful bride's shower in the home of Mrs. K. N. Chase at Chase.

Attractive in rose cotton, Miss Trapp was presented a corsage of white carnations by her hostess.

Mrs. Chase was assisted in the courtesies by Mrs. N. W. Wiggers, Mrs. Devon Johnson, Mrs. J. A. Lewis, Mrs. Lonnie Roach and Miss Ena McDuff.

Receiving with Miss Trapp and Mrs. Chase was the bride's mother, Mrs. Carolos R. Trapp, and her grandmother, Mrs. Sara Stigall.

Caladium leaves and vinca formed attractive arrangements in the reception suite where the guests were registered by Miss Barbara Trapp, and where the beautifully wrapped gifts were in charge of Miss Ena McDuff.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses and Mrs. Tence Hernandez to the forty-five guests who presented the bride with gifts of line, silver and crystal.

Louisiana's Yam Envoys In Denver

DENVER, Sept. 10 (AP)—Seventy representatives of Louisiana's sweet potato industry saw a novel use of their product today when they visited a yam chip factory here.

The group is here to drum up interest in the Yambilee, the National Sweet Potato Frolic to be held at Opelousas, La., Oct. 5-7. Denver is a major market outlet for Louisiana sweet potatoes. It received 3½ million bushels of yams last year.

On Saturday, the sweet potato men move on to Dallas. They are due back in Opelousas Monday.

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: Perhaps, at 26, I should be able to solve my own problems, but this is a situation on which I'd like some impartial advice. Since my parents are well off financially, I have never been faced with budget worries. Now I have become very much interested in a young man who has plenty of money problems. His occupation is unglamorous, requires no skill or special training—for clarification, he's a plumber—and his income is not very large. He is a wonderful person, sincere, ambitious and hard-working. His aspiration is to own his own business. At present, however, he has debts amounting to over $2,000 and my folks feel these obligations should be paid off before we marry. They aren't too enthusiastic about the marriage, anyway, but this seems to be the last straw. Do you think I should marry him now, or wait until he is debt free?

START WITH CLEAN SLATE

ANSWER: Your contention that your friend is in an ill-paying trade will be met with rueful smiles by many readers who have paid recent plumbing bills. Judging from them, a young man nearing 30, with no family responsibilities, should have little difficulty in paying off a debt—even one as large as $2,000. In fact, the obvious question is how he came to contract this liability in the first place.

Judging the future from the past, which is a fair premise, you can readily see that if he couldn't discharge his obligations before marriage, there's little chance of meeting them later. If the man can't save money now, how can he save it with wife and, probably, children to care for? Somewhere along the line there's a glint of financial irresponsibility which should be corrected. That's the point you must tackle. Find out why the money was borrowed, and set about adjusting your friend's budget to permit repayment of the money and to provide a sound basis for monetary management after your marriage.

Your family is right in asking you to wait until his affairs are settled, or at least until he can see light through the murk of his muddled finances. There's more here than the repayment of numerous piled-up bills; I suspect your friend is not as hard-working or ambitious as you indicate, otherwise he would be making every effort to be more eligible as a husband.

MAKE ADJUSTMENT

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a widow of 51 with a family of six children, all married. Recently I met a man a bit older than I and we became quite friendly. He has asked to call on me, but the trouble is he works until 9 o'clock at night and it would be 10 before he reached my house. I think this is too late for a visit. First of all, it doesn't seem right and, second, I'm used to being in bed by that time.

Mrs. F.

ANSWER: You're old enough to realize that we cannot order things in this world entirely to our liking. You have the opportunity to acquire a good friend—something not too easily done at your age. If you value his friendship you must make the adjustments his working hours require. There's certainly nothing wrong in his calling at 10 o'clock; after all, that's the beginning of the evening for him.

DEAR MISS DIX: During the two years we've been going together, George and I have broken up twice, mainly because he hasn't been sure of his feelings for me. The last break hurt me very much. We've both been dating others since our quarrel, and I hear that George has decided he likes me best. My family has forbidden me to go out with him, as they're afraid I'll be hurt again. Besides, they are very much taken with one of the other boys I've been dating. I know that for me there will never be anyone but George and, if he asks me out, I'll go with or without parental consent. Don't you think I'd be justified?

Rita T.

ANSWER: Your folks are more concerned about your feelings than you are. Having lived with you through two heartbreaks they don't want a repetition, while you are set to prove how much punishment you can take. Granted that George, at 19, is very young, no age is too young for consideration. He just takes you up and drops you as the whim seizes him. Your watchword should be "caution" and your parents' guidance should be followed.

'Corpse' Comes Alive As Hearse Carts Him Away

LONG BEACH, Calif., Sept. 10 —UP— A 66-year-old man, who was pronounced dead but "came back to life" in a hearse bound for a mortuary, apologized Friday for "almost scaring the hearse driver to death."

"They tell me the blankets covering me in the hearse began to move," Harry A. Jones, of San Gabriel, Calif., said, "and that the poor guy really got frightened. I was supposed to be dead, but you can't prove it by me."

Astounded doctors at Long Beach Veterans hospital said Jones was making a remarkable recovery despite being pronounced dead last Wednesday. They said he was sitting up, swapping jokes with nurses and talking baseball.

Jones slumped over at his desk Wednesday and a physician summoned by his wife could find no pulse, no heart beat nor any signs of breath. The doctor pronounced Jones dead and he was picked up by a hearse.

Halfway to the mortuary, the hearse driver and his assistant heard "a long sigh." Their pulse stopped briefly when they observed the blankets over Jones moving slightly.

The hearse driver hastily altered his course for the nearest emergency hospital, where Jones was given oxygen and revived.

Jones, who has suffered from a serious heart condition since World War I, said:

"The only thing I know is that I blacked out at my desk. When I came to, I thought I was back in France, pushing a horse and artillery wagon out of the mud. The sergeant was saying, 'you can't do it.' But I kept pushing, pushing and pushing and I made it."

New Orleans Landlord Admits Fatal Shooting Of Two Noisy Tenants

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 10 (AP) — Police held a 65-year old landlord today who admitted he shot and killed two noisy tenants.

Booked with murder was Lester Blocker. He confessed to slaying Walter Blackman, 41, formerly of Tillersville, Ga., and Nora P. Allen, 29, formely of Summersville, Ga.

Blocker fired, police said, after his wife had notified the department that the tenants were making a disturbance. Twice last night police came to the apartment and quieted down Blackman, the Allen woman, and some friends. After the third complaint this morning, however, Blocker got to the apartment before officers did, police said.

Police reported Blocker told them he shot Blackman when he thought his tenant was going to hit him with a brick. Then, he said he shot the woman as she stepped in front of a guest, Fred Brewer, 46. When he thought Brewer was going to hit him, Blocker also fired at the guest.

Brewer received only superficial wounds.

A watchman at the Lane Cotton Mills, across the street, told police a slightly different story. Bernard J. Redler, 68, said:

"I saw the old man (Blocker) leaning on an automobile in front of his house. A man opened the shutters of the front door next door and hollered something to the old man.

"The old man walked a little way from the auto and shot. The man in the door tumbled down the steps and the old man shot again. Then, he walked up the steps, reached inside and fired two more times."

The Blockers said the woman and Blackman presented themselves as man and wife and rented the next door apartment three weeks ago.

Russia Launches Public Air-Raid Protection Drive

By TOM WHITNEY
Associated Press Foreign Staff

The leading Soviet paper has announced the U.S.S.R is now carrying out a nationwide program for training the entire population of the country in air raid precautions.

Pravda in a front-page editorial discussed the activities of the mass membership Soviet civil defense organization known as DOSAAF—from the initials of the Russian words for "Voluntary Society for Assistance to the Army, Aviation and Navy."

Declared the editorial: "The preparation of the entire population for up-to-date air raid and chemical-warfare defense . . . must be given priority."

This is the first indication that the Soviet government is undertaking a public nationwide campaign for air raid training. Up till a year ago inside Russia certain air raid precautions were being taken — but only on a secret and semi-secret basis. For instance, in Moscow certain apartment houses —though the tenants did not know it — had shelter areas designated.

But apparently the Soviet government was afraid to undertake open and public air raid training. It seems likely it was considered it would frighten the population unduly and perhaps also interfere with the Soviet "peace" campaign abroad.

Canada Honors Girl Who Swam Lake Ontario

TORONTO, Sept. 10 —UP— Marilyn Bell, 16-year-old choir girl who swam across Lake Ontario, Friday found herself the darling of Canada and winner of $50,000 in cash and gifts.

Toronto staged a ticker-tape parade for her, and the Canadian National Exhibition, which sponsored the 32-mile swim scheduled a giant victory cavalcade of boats for the formal ceremony to present her with $10,000 for her achievement.

The chubby-cheeked New Toronto high school girl excitedly told reporters she "still can't get over the fact that so many people are interested in me."

"It seems awfully nice of them," she said.

Marilyn was pulled from the icy waters at the sunnyside breakwater at 8:10 o'clock, Thursday night, 21 hours after she plunged into the lake at Youngstown, N.Y. with distance champion Florence Chadwick. Miss Chadwick, who had been promised the $10,000 if she completed the swim, was pulled from the water suffering from nausea after 15 miles.

Officials switched the jackpot to Marilyn after Winnie Roache Leuszler, Canada's only woman channel swimmer, gave up with nine miles to go. Marilyn, 119-pound Loretto Abbey senior had entered the swim with no promise of reward "because I thought it was time somebody did something for Canada."

To Get Drouth Aid

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Agriculture Department officials indicated here today all of Arkansas except Arkansas County, may be recommended for drought relief.

Officials, who declined to be quoted by name, said the state, which already has been designated for disaster relief by President Eisenhower, has some counties obtaining relief now. They said others will be recommended by them to the secretary of agriculture today.

Stocks Advance With Industrials Leading Market

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Stocks advanced today in a market marked by its moderation.

Business was below average for the year so far at 1,870,000 shares, but it was better than yesterday's 1,700,000 shares.

It was the best advance of the week as measured by The Associated Press average of 60 stocks up 60 cents at $133.00. That gain isn't very great by any means, but it at least maintains the higher trend the market has been in for the last week and a half.

The industrial component of the average added 60 cents, the rails were up 50 cents, and utilities gained 30 cents.

They were 1,174 individual issues on the tape, of which 595 advanced and 306 declined with 57 new highs and 2 new lows for the year registered.

The steels, railroads, and coppers were among the most active of the major groups, and also going up as a group were the oils, utilities, tobaccos, textiles, and radio-televisions. The motors were mixed as were the aircrafts, mail order houses, and the chemicals.

Corporate bonds were narrow. U.S. government issues in the over the counter market eased.

NEW MACHINE READS FOR BLIND — In Modena, Italy, electrical engineer Antonio Rubbiani, right, demonstrates his new reading machine for the blind to sightless Guiseppe Cerroni, who "reads" a newspaper with his finger tips. The machine consists of a photoelectric cell mounted on a framework, right, which trasmits electrical impulses, letter by letter, to corresponding dowels on the keyboard of the reception box, left.

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 15 cents a bale lower to 5 cents higher in slow trading today. Hedge selling and liquidation led to modest declines in early dealings. The market later worked irregularly higher on increased trade buying and local short covering toward the close. Some selling was credited to the possibility that some sections of the cotton belt will get relief from too much hot dry weather.

Private advices said that a cool front had moved into the Memphis territory, with rain predicted. Scattered thundershowers and lower temperatures were forecast for most of Texas. Mill buying of futures was mostly scale down in nature.

Some spot house covering was said to be against sales of cotton to Germany and France.

RUSTON, Sept. 10 (Special)—A new $40,000 house is now under construction for the Gamma Psi chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity at Louisiana Tech. The modernistic type brick building is being erected on the corner of Texas avenue and Homer street and will face west.

L. P. McLane, Tech professor of physical education and president of the fraternity's house corporation, reports the new house will contain over 4,000 square feet of floor space and will provide a chapter meeting place as well as living quarters for 20 members of the fraternity. It is expected to be completed by early fall.

To be erected in the form of an "L," the structure will contain a living or assembly room that is 62 feet by 24 feet. This will give space for PiKA meetings, parties and banquets. The room is designed so that a movable partition can be installed to make one end into a space 20 by 28 feet for smaller meetings.

Leading off the large living room will be a kitchen, office for the house manager, and living quarters for the chapter house mother. A hallway also leads to the 10 bedrooms for fraternity members.

Each room will accommodate two men.

The flat roof building is being constructed over a concrete slab floor. There will be a small entrance porch and a larger side porch on the building. A central heating system is being installed.

Hershel Poole To Head FFA Chapter

ENTERPRISE, Sept. 10 (Special)—Hershel Poole was elected at a recent meeting of the Enterprise Future Farmers of America chapter to serve the organization as president for the 1954-55 school term.

Other new officers are as follows: Joe Keith Cruse, vice president; Herman Netherland, secretary; Elmo Tarver, treasurer; Junior Curington, reporter; Aulston Atwell, sentinel; Merwyn McGuffee, parliamentarian.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Look At Your Arms; And Improve Them

Our arms are always hanging around us! However, we seldom take a good look at them. If your arms are too fat or thin or flabby, you can improve the condition.

Naturally, if you are underweight, a gain will help pad the arms. You should also take exercises to build up the muscles.

The following exercise will be a first aid to the thin or flabby arm: Stand tall with your arms hanging at your sides. Take a weight in each hand, palms facing forward. Bend the elbows and raise the weights forward-upward, touching them to your upper arms. Lower weights. Continue.

Medical Problem?

Some women who are not overweight have very large upper arms. Certain glandular disturbances can cause this. If this is your situation check in with your doctor, because while this is not always the case, it is worth investigating.

One of the first ways in which middle age shows, is the flabby upper arm. Often women who have lost a great amount of weight too fast, and without exercise, have what might be called "bags" on the upper arm. However, any woman who does not exercise, in sports or with special exercises, will find this condition developing as the years accumulate.

Golf or tennis or badminton or even ping-pong help. After early middle age you should not take up tennis and should play only doubles at badminton and take it easy. I often wonder why more women do not learn to use Indian clubs. When you swing and twirl them to music it is fun, and gives the whole arm a workout.

Watch Elbows

AND, don't forget your elbows! Use a rough cloth or a fairly soft brush on them when you take your bath and lubricate them with cream often. The skin at the elbows tends to darken. A lemon juice bleach will be helpful ever so often, but this is drying. Be certain to apply cream afterwards.

I am offering you a quick pick-up in case you gained a few pounds this summer. If you would like to have my Nine-Day Reducing Diet Booklet which will give you a loss of from five to ten pounds in nine days' time, send 10 cents, with a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Black Dog Unlucky For Group Of Boys

CLEARFIELD, Utah (AP) — A group of Clearfield youngsters are certain it is black dogs — not cats — that are unlucky.

It was a black dog that led to their apprehension for stealing Police Chief Alpha Padgett's watermelons.

Someone tipped off the chief that the boys who took the melons had a black dog with them. Yesterday the chief saw a group of boys walking down the road with a black dog. He questioned them about the theft. They confessed.

The boys are now paying for the melons.

L. S. U. Freshmen To Start 4-Day Orientation Work

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 10 (Special) — An estimated 2,600 freshmen will begin a four-day orientation period at Louisiana State University, Monday, September 13, to learn about college life.

The four-day freshman week will include social hours, faculty counseling, tests and physical examinations. Classes will begin, Friday, September 17.

Placement tests in English, mathematics, music and chemistry will be given students Monday and Tuesday. Faculty counseling, vocational interest tests, orientation meetings and physical examinations are scheduled throughout the week. Registration will begin Wednesday for all undergraduate students.

The first of the social events will be held Monday evening. A general meeting followed by a stag mixer for men students and a social hour and meetings with advisors for women students are scheduled.

Tuesday evening a freshman frolic program sponsored by the student council and division of student life will be held in the Greek Theater.

At the frolic, student body officers and student leaders will be introduced. The students will learn LSU fight songs, the LSU Alma Mater and football yells, and will see a talent program staged by upperclassmen.

A convocation of all freshmen students will be held in the Greek Theater, Wednesday evening. Students will be greeted by Charles E. Smith, dean of the university, and will hear an address by Troy H. Middleton, president of the university. Following the convocation, church socials at the student centers will honor the freshmen.

Thursday evening there will be an all-campus pep rally in the Greek Theater to choose cheerleaders. The LSU band, Mike the Tiger, Gus Tinsley and his staff and the varsity football team will be at the meeting.

A dance sponsored by the student council in honor of the freshmen will be held in the gym-armory, Friday evening, ending the orientation week activities.

Baptists Open House To Mark Its Centennial

A feature of the centennial observance of First Baptist Church will be the reception in the home of the pastor, Dr. James T. Horton, and Mrs. Horton, 1303 Hilton Street, Monday evening, between the hours of 6 and 10. Members of the church and all friends are extended a most cordial invitation to call between the hours and enjoy a period of fellowship.

The courtesy committee, composed of Mrs. Richard Drew, Mrs. Tom Davis and Mrs. Saul Adler, are in charge of this portion of the celebration, and with other members of the church, will welcome all who attend.

Friends are also invited to attend any and all of the other services during the week, they state.

3 Local Men To Attend CD Training Monday

Three persons from Ouachita parish will represent District F, Civil Defense, in the Olney, Md., federal civil defense training school, which opens Monday. The three will leave this week end for the week training.

Attending from this area are Capt. J. K. Clower, rescue training officer; George Whitlow, rescue organizing officer; and Clay Johnson, state field representative for CD.

Advance methods of rescue will be taught during the week training course. Mobile support and mutual aid operations, the use of radiological instruments in contaminated areas prior to rescue of casualties with the use of gas masks will be included in the course.

Two basic classes in rescue have been taught by these men at District F Civil Defense Headquarters this year. Men attending these classes were from Morehouse, West Carroll, Madison, Richland, Tensas and Lincoln parishes.

Special Traffic Memorial Day Is Scheduled Here

Arthur W. Stevens, president of the Automobile Safety Association, announced Friday that September 30 has been designated all over the United States as "1954 Traffic Memorial Day."

According to Stevens, the day has a three fold purpose:

To commemorate the 36,000 killed and 2,000,000 injured in automobile accidents during the past 12 months.

To prevent a let-down in safety precautions after the much publicized Labor Day week end.

To alert the public to the fact that the three months just ahead—October, November and December—are the most dangerous period, with an average monthly toll of 3,300 killed and 150,000 injured in automobile accidents in this country.

"On Traffic Memorial Day," Stevens said, "every citizen should be exhorted to do his or her share in bringing automobile accidents under control."

U. S. Atomic Strength Is Up—Strauss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission says the United States has many more atomic weapons in its arsenal than it did a year ago.

Strauss was tight lipped yesterday when reporters sought to find out about U.S. and Russian progress in the atomic arms race.

The AEC chief told a news conference this country has "more weapons, by a wide margin, than we had a year ago" and he said the production rate is mounting rapidly.

But when asked whether the United States has any new weapons, Strauss would only recall that he had said a spring series of weapons tests in the mid-Pacific "were very fruitful."

A newsman asked if there had been any new Soviet atomic blasts since the United States announced detection of a Russian test about a year ago. After some thought, Strauss replied: "That is a field where I ought not to answer." He cautioned newsmen not to "draw any inferences" from his reply.

The AEC chairman said that "in all likelihood there will be continuing tests of new weapons" at the Marshall Islands proving grounds. Other sources have reported a new test series is in the works for next spring.

Strauss also said he knows of no plan to move the testing area from where a mighty hydrogen bomb was detonated last March, setting loose a radioactive cloud which drifted beyond the warning area.

Some Japanese fishermen 80 miles from the blast were stricken by radiation sickness and some Marshall Islands natives also suffered, but less severely. This led to demands from some Japanese that the tests be halted or the test location moved.

Strauss' news conference ranged into the field of peaceful atomic energy uses and the AEC chairman said he expects conferences to open soon on creation of an international agency along lines suggested by President Eisenhower.

Strauss said, too, he hopes for an international conference of scientists on nonmilitary use of atomic energy "not long after the first of the year."

On other matters, Strauss said:

1. A controversial contract with a private combine, the Dixon-Yates group, to furnish power to the Tennessee Valley Authority area probably will be signed within two weeks.

Eisenhower's directive to the AEC to negotiate that contract with the Dixon-Yates group kicked up a furor in the closing days of the congressional session. Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell has kept the issue alive by claiming the Dixon-Yates group got preferential treatment.

2. Despite reports that atomic scientists were aroused over the AEC's decision to bar Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer from access to government atomic secrets, Strauss found the turnover of personnel at big AEC laboratories to be normal and the recruiting of new scientific talent satisfactory.

Workshop Will Give Techniques Of Discussions

The techniques of leading discussions will be taught in a three-day workshop for laymen to be held in Alexandria, September 30, according to an announcement of the northeast branch of the Louisiana Association for Mental Health.

The workshop will consist of persons from all over Louisiana.

Grand Husband, associate director of the Mental Health Association of Southeastern Pennsylvania will lead the session. He is considered one of the nation's outstanding workers in group discussion techniques. G. Kinsey Stewart, field representative for the Louisiana association is in charge of arrangements for the workshop and will assist in conducting the meetings.

The Northeast Branch will discuss this workshop and plan their program for the year, at a meeting at 7:30 p. m., September 14, at the Virginia Hotel. The public is cordially invited to attend. Every individual and organization interested in any phase of the mental health field, is urged to learn more about the worl of their local and state Mental Health Associations. Those interested in attending the workshop can make final arrangements at the meeting.

Fleming Witness Testifies About Threat Of Death

FORT SHERIDAN, Ill., Sept. 10 —UP—Lt. Col. Harry Fleming, on trial for alleged collaboration with his Red captors in Korea, once was threatened with death for resisting them, a defense witness testified.

Maj. Clifford Allen, 34, Fort MacArthur, Calif., testified Thursday that both he and Fleming were threatened by Col. Kim, head of Prison Camp No. 12 at Pyongyang.

Allen said Kim pointed a pistol at them and said:

"I'm going to shoot you dead because you're influencing others against us."

Allen testified that Kim was angered because he and Fleming refused to write an article which, they learned later, the Communists wantd to use at the Korean peace conference.

Allen testified that Fleming "showed a lot of spunk" in demanding of the Communists more food and medicine for the POWs. He said Fleming told him many times:

"I will give my soul in hell to get every man out of here alive."

Allen said he defied Kim on another occasion and Kim "threatened to rob me of my manhood." He said he was forced to stand nude from the waist down for 45 minutes while a North Korean soldier stood with a sickle poised ready to emasculate him.

But Kim relented, Allen said.

The defense began its testimony Thursday after the prosecution had completed its case and defense motions for a directed verdict of acquittal were denied.

Fleming, the first officer tried for alleged collaboration, is accused of making propaganda broadcasts and leading Communist classes.

Miss. Parents Organize; W. Va. Schools Picketed

by THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Parents are picketing unsegregated schools in two West Virginia counties and there have been moves to set up "citizens' councils" to enforce segregation in Mississippi.

"The white people in certain counties are organizing to protect themselves," a Mississippi legislator said Thursday. "Practically every county in the state has organized or is organizing," he added.

Mississippians soon will be voting on a constitutional amendment which could lead to abolition of the public school system. One legislator said the "citizens' councils" might aid passage of the amendment.

A member of one of the councils, refusing to be quoted by name, declared: "We want the people assured that there is responsible leadership which will and can handle local segregation problems. If that is recognized, there will be no cause for any hot-headed bunch to start a Ku Klux Klan. If we fail, though, the temper of the public may produce something like the Klan."

The Mississippi legislature passed a bill Thursday designed to guard against Negro suits forcing admission to the University of Mississippi Medical School. The legislators recently abolished out-of-state medical scholarships to Mississippi students. New scholarships are to be given to the University of Mississippi school, now under construction.

Fearing that Negroes might try to force admission to the school because no other facility if made available to them, the legislators voted Thursday to continue scholarships for Mississippi Negro students to attend Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Tenn., a Negro institution.

At the same time the Mississippi House passed on a second reading the constitutional amendment which would allow the legislature to abolish public schools. The amendment is virtually assured of passage. It must be passed on a third reading and, after almost certain Senate approval, would be submitted to the voters in a Dec. 21 referendum.

In two West Virginia counties Thursday parents protested the racial integration of school children.

A picket line was set up at the combined high and elementary school at Rupert in Greenbrier County, where 12 Negroes have been attending classes since the school opened Tuesday. And mothers of some white students in Marion County turned out to protest the admission of 13 Negro students.

Supt. J. J. Straight of the Marion schools said many of the parents kept their children away from school.

Segregation was ended in many West Virginia counties soon after the U.S. Supreme Court held that public school segregation is unconstitutional.

In Washington, a move to hold up racial integration in the District of Columbia's public schools was blocked by U.S. District Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut. He denied a plea submitted by the Federation of Citizens' Assn., an all-white group which had called for an order restraining the registration of students for unsegregated classes.

Georgia's new governor-designate, a protege of Gov. Herman Talmadge, declared Thursday, he will campaign for passage of the Talmadge - sponsored "private school" amendment, similar to Mississippi's measure.

Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin, nominated Wednesday in a Landslide, said he will plug for the amendment as "insurance" to help preserve school segregation. Behind the plan is a proposal to convert public schools to "private" schools if necessary to maintain segregation.

The superintendent of Little Rock, Ark., told a group of Negroes Thursday that "honest studies" of integration will be completed in 30 to 60 days.

Virgil T. Blossom said he will be glad to talk to Negro leaders about the school system's plans after the studies are finished. The Little Rock School Board earlier had been asked by Negroes not to follow a "wait and see" policy of integration but to go ahead and map plans to end segregation immediately.

Allen Mansfield New Director Of Neville Tigerettes

New director for the Neville High School Tigerettes, an all-girl 200 - member pep squad at the local high school, is Allen Howard Mansfield, of Memphis, Tenn.

Mansfield, who assumed his duties when drill sessions for the girls began several weeks ago, replaces Luther E. Jones, resigned.

The new director was born at Drakesboro, Ky., and attended prep school at Central City, Ky., for four years. He received his B. S. degree from Union University, and his M. A. from the George Peabody College for Teachers. Throughout his college work, he majored in math and in health and physical education.

The new director will also teach junior high school mathematics.

He has previously taught two years at Grand Canyon College, Prescott, Ariz., where he was head of the physical education department and dean of men; at Crenshaw High School; at Union University, Jackson, Tenn., where he was coach, physical education director, and math teacher; at Haynesville High School, where he did coaching and taught math. He has also served four years in the military service.

The first half - time show of the Tigerettes under his direction was at the Neville - Bolton football game at Alexandria last week. The Neville band, under the direction of John W. Davis, works with the Tigerette group in its performances.

Assisting Mansfield are two other Neville faculty members, Mrs. V. B. Dunn and Henry Slade, also a newcomer to the faculty.

$112,332 Contract Let In West Carroll

FARMERVILLE, Sept. 10 (Special) — The State Department of Highways has awarded a contract totaling $112,332 for blacktopping 10.3 miles of the Oak Grove-Kilbourne Highway (State Route 16) in West Carroll Parish, Highway Board Chairman Fred Preaus said.

Preaus said the contract was awarded to the T. L. James & Co., Ruston, on the basis of the firm's low bid.

The project will begin at the end of the existing pavement on the highway and continue northeasterly to the Arkansas state line with the surfacing to be 20 feet wide, Preaus pointed out.

The highway official said that the contractor will be required to provide for through and local traffic at all times during construction.

It will require about four and a half months to complete the project.

Claims Cigarette Smokers Over 40 Are Cancer-Prone

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government researcher said today heavy cigarette smokers now 40 years old have from 5 to 15 times greater a chance than nonsmokers of developing lung cancer before they statistician at the National Cancer are 80.

He is Sidney J. Cutler, staff Institute at nearby Bethesda, Md., who emphasized that nobody has proved cigarettes cause lung cancer but added:

"It is fairly clear that whatever the casual mechanism may be, smokers are more likely to develop lung cancer than nonsmokers."

Cutler's paper was one of several, dealing with relationships between cigarette smoking and cancer cases, prepared for the International Congress of Pathology, a conference on the causes of disease which is being attended by specialists from many parts of the world.

The American Cancer Society announced last June that one of its studies showed that cigarette smokers 50 to 70 years old died earlier, in groups that were studied, than other men. But many scientists have said there is no conclusive evidence that cigarettes themselves bring on cancer.

The tobacco industry has said more study is needed to determine causes of cancer and heart disease, and has set up an industry study committee, headed by Dr. Clarence Cook Little.

Little has said he subscribed to a statement that "one cannot at this time exclude the possibility that heavy cigarette smoking and the tendency to cancer are both expressions of a more fundamental cause of a constitutional or hormone nature."

Dr. Johannes Clemmesen of the Danish Cancer Registry, Copenhagen, in a statement prepared for today's meeting, said:

"In spite of many factors which may be expected to obscure the results it appears that there is a distinct correlation between the number of cigarettes consumed in the various countries . . . and the height of their national mortality lung cancer deaths.

Dr. Nils Ringertz of Sabbateberg Hospital, Stockholm, said it is doubtful if such things as air pollution by smoke and similar substances are important factors, on a worldwide basis, in the rise in lung cancer deaths.

He added "there is strong but so far not quite complete evidence that tobacco smoking, especially cigarette smoking, is the most important exogenous (external) factor causing the main part of the lung cancer cases."

Another panel speaker, Pao Chang-hou of Hong Kong, said in his statement that clinical evidence and work with mice have not proved a relationship between tobacco and cancer.

Cutler noted that during the past 20 years the reported mortality from lung cancer in the United States has increased by 400 per cent. He said his statistical studies show these prospects faced by men now 40 years old of reaching age 80 without suffering lung cancer:

Nonsmokers — 6 men out of 1,000 will suffer lung cancer.

Light smokers (up to ½ pack of cigarettes a day) — 25 in 1,000 will get lung cancer.

Those smoking about one pack a day — 49 out of 1,000 will get lung cancer.

More than one pack a day — 80 out of 1,000 men will get lung cancer.

Cutler estimated the risk may range from 5 to 15 times greater for the heavy smokers — more than one pack a day — compared with the nonsmokers.

Northwestern To Start 70th Year

NATCHITOCHES, Sept. 10 (Special) — Northwestern State College will begin its 70th year of operation here Monday, and officials are looking forward to one of the most successful years in the long history of the institution. Under a new president, Dr. John S. Kyser, the college will open its academic doors at 8 a. m. on Sept. 13, and a definite increase in enrollment —especially in the freshman class —is expected to materialize the following Wednesday, when registration begins.

A variety of activities for freshmen and other newcomers to the campus is planned, beginning at 6 p. m. Sunday, when a religious program and convocation will be held. Dormitories will already have been opened by this time for all incoming students.

Two Are Sentenced To Prison Terms

Judge Jesse Heard sentenced two persons to the state prison at Angola Thursday on forgery counts and fined another $300 and costs of court for driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. The action was taken in Fourth District Court.

Sentenced to the state penitentiary were Colvin Chapman and B. F. Renninger. Chapman received two concurrent 18-month sentences, while Renninger was sentenced to five terms of 18 month each. The sentences will also run concurrently.

Fined for drunk driving was James B. Dabbs. His driver's license was suspended for 60 days.

$1 Million Allocated To Do Research On Problems Of Commercial Fishermen

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior McKay today announced allocation of about $1,800,000 to initiate a greatly expanded research program designed to strengthen the American commercial fishing industry.

The program was authorized by Congress under the Saltonstall-Kennedy Act. It provides that an amount equal to 30 per cent of the customs duties collected on fishery products may be spent "to promote the free flow of domestically produced fishery products in commerce."

Expenditures by the Fish and Wild Life Service in any one year of the three-year program may not exceed three million dollars. The balance of this year's allocation will be held up until after appointment in the near future of an advisory committee.

All segments of the fishing industry will be represented on the group, McKay said the committee will be invited to propose and review research projects and recommend what is to be done.

The three million dollars is in addition to $2,583.000 appropriated by Congress to the Fish and Wildlife Service to carry on authorized research programs this fiscal year.

The existing fish and fisheries programs include extensive work now being done on the Great Lakes sea lamprey and the Florida red tide scourge.

In addition, $50,000 has been appropriated for research on escapement of fish in connection with construction of multiple purpose dams.

A breakdown of the projects for which money was allocated today included:

Gulf Coast—Research, on shrimp $80,000, on red tide $20,000, and on oysters, $25,000. For collection of commercial fishery statistics, New Orleans, $50,000. For fishery education and market development work, at Ft. Worth, Tex., $9,000, at Atlanta and New Orleans $15,000. Preliminary surveys for a laboratory at Pascagoula, Miss., $2,000. Total $201,000.

Restrictions On Gamma Globulin To Be Removed

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 10 — UP— Cutter Laboratories, one of the nation's major suppliers of the polio vaccine gamma globulin, Friday announced it would commence selling the serum to physicians Oct. 1 through "regular channels" because the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis now has an "ample supply."

A Cutter spokesman said the Office of Defense Mobilization does not control the supply of gamma globulin, though it has handled its distribution, and thus is in no position to rule on the sale of the serum.

An ODM spokesman said in Washington Friday that the ODM's subcommittee on blood will meet later this month to consider freeing the serum from federal control.

The ODM has had charge of distributing gamma globulin under the NFIP's collection program since February, 1953, the Cutter spokesman said. Serum producers agreed to this arrangement to prevent black market operations in gamma globulin when it was scarce, he said.

Had Enough Candy To Outwit Teacher

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Kindergarten teacher Mrs. Georgia Young chided a 5-year-old candy-chewing pupil with, "we don't eat candy in school unless we have enough to share with everybody in the class."

The young lady countered, "Oh, but I do!" and she produced a sack-full of peppermints to prove it.

Lumberjacks Thump Rebels; Rams Trounce Bengals

Springhill Land, Air Attack Rolls Up 31-7 Victory

The smooth-working Springhill Lumberjacks, who already hold wins over Ruston and Haynesville in an early-season football rally, combined a powerful ground attack with an accurate aerial display to defeat the West Monroe High Rebels last night at Brown Stadium, 31-7.

The Rebs' only score came in the third period, when Harold Willis and Mack Hunt sparked a Rebel offensive from their own 33 to the Springhill 33. Willis, on a pretty broken-field run that started around his right end, went all the way for the TD, and Marlin Monzingo kicked the point.

Springhill scored in the first quarter on a 23-yard pass from quartergack Lane McCasland to end Jerry Hudson, and early in the second on a McCasland to David Stone pass that went 15 yards. Darwin Chambless kicked the sole Lumberjack extra point after the second score.

Just before halftime, Stone scampered 20 yards for the third six-pointer, and it was 19-0 at intermission. Two of the three Lumberjack scores were set up by inopportunity Reb fumbles, and the third by a pass interception.

The black and gold - clad visitors scored on the second play of the third period, when halfback Sid Wynne went 47 yards. He also traveled 73 yards to paydirt in the fourth stanza, only to have the run nullified by a clipping penalty.

End Jim Chadwick accounted for the final Springhill touchdown, when he ripped off ten yards on an end-around, after halfback Jerry Malone had set it up with a 50-yard dash.

The lineups:

West Monroe

Ends: Thompson, Adams, Gamble, Holmes; Tackles: Blazier, Lawson, Harris; Guards, Monzingo, Watson; Centers, Brakefield, Hendricks; Backs: Webb, Hunt, Willis, Odom, Peel, Hughes, Jones, V. Marzula.

Ends: Duke, Malone, Armstrong, Hudson, Richardson, Chadwick; Tackles: Chase, Souter, Camp, Chambless, Sims; guards: Thomas, McKenzie, Holland, Nesbit; centers: Crowder, Horton; backs: McCasland, Wynne, Sessions, Stone, Malone, Peters, Benefield, Hilburn, Daigle.

Officials

Referee, Holloway; umpire, Hesketh; head linesman, Moon; field judge, McKeithen.

Yankees Keeping Pennant Hopes Alive, Triumph, 6-3

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 — The New York Yankees, clinging desperately to their slim hopes for the American League pennant, defeated the Chicago White Sox, 6-3, tonight to remain five and a half games behind the league-leading Cleveland Indians.

The game started out as a brilliant pitching battle between veteran Virgil Trucks and rookie Bob Grim. Neither was around at the finish.

Trucks, in his fourth bid for his 19th victory, weakened in the middle innings and was taken out when the Yankees put together three hits, two walks and a hit batsman for three runs.

Grim, in trouble in every inning after the second, chalked up his 18th victory — five at the expense of the White Sox — was taken out in the eighth when the Sox picked up their third run on three singles. Jim Konstanty, National League castoff, came in and retired Nelson Fox on an easy bounder to end the threat.

Rayville Eleven Trounces Holly Ridge, 33 To 0

RAYVILLE, La., Sept. 10 (Special)—The Rayville High School Hornets, held to two touchdowns for three quarters by a battling Holly Ridge line, finally broke down the resistance for three touchdowns in the last period and a 33-0 triumph over the Eagles.

Bobby Weaver put the Hornets ahead with a 60-yard touchdown sprint in the last minutes of the opening quarter. Tackle David McCarty converted. Weaver counted again in the second period, and Keith Amos converted for a 14-0 lead at the half.

Allen Best of Holly Ridge intercepted a Rayville pass in the third quarter and went 30 yards, but the Eagles couldn't score.

Then Merle Smith, Rayville, intercepted a pass on the second play of the final period and went 45 yards to paydirt to start the Hornets rolling again.

Three plays later Smith again intercepted a pass and ran 30 yards to the Eagle four. Lannie Boles carried to the one, and Amos went over. Amos also kicked for the third conversion.

Frank Burroughs added the final Hornet touchdown on a short line plunge.

Kellert Shines As Orioles Nip Solons, 4 To 3

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10 (AP)—Frank Kellert, San Antonio framhand making his first start in a desperation switch at first base, rapped out a ninth-inning single to give the Baltimore Orioles a 4-3 victory over Washington tonight.

Bums Head Braves, 2-1 In Abbreviated Contest

BROOKLYN, Sept. 10 (AP)—Milwaukee's 10-game winning streak apparently came to an end in the mud and rain at Ebbets Field tonight when the Brooklyn Dodgers led 2-1 in the last of the fifth inning and no further play was possible. However, umpire Larry Goetz said: "I don't know if it is an official game. I'll have to talk to the boss."

Play was suspended for the second time in the contest at 10:53 p.m. (EDT) and the umpires finally gave up at 12:50 a.m., the automatic curfew for all major league games.

All summer long the "Drive Slow School" signs didn't mean much. Lest we forget, the good old school days are with us again. Children are unpredictable and lack experience and judgement. Don't depend on them to do the right thing, then regret it the rest of your life.

Mitri, Humez Paired

ROME, Sept. 10 (AP)—Tiberio Mitri, European middleweight boxing champion, will meet Charles Humez, French title holder, in a title fight Oct. 6, it was reported today. The Rome fight will be Mitri's first title defense since he won the title from Randy Turpin on May 2.

It is expected the winner will be given a match with Bobo Olson in a world title bout sometime later.

Bastrop Masters Neville's Eleven To Tune Of 32-18

BASTROP, La., Sept. 10 (Special) The Bastrop High School Rams, powering for 16 first downs behind the hard running by J. W. "Red" Brodnax, Ronnie Johnson, John Stormet and Bob McGough, defeated the Neville High Tigers of Monroe, 32 to 18, here tonight.

Johnson went over for three Bastrop touchdowns while McGough and Brodnax added one each. Bill Loftin kicked for two Ram conversions.

Neville's power was in the air with Elton Upshaw doing the pitching. Jerry Aston took two scoring passes from Upshaw and Tom Causey caught the final. Upshaw threw 22 passes, completing eleven, as Neville totalled nine first downs. Bastrop threw only two passes, completing both.

A red hot Bastrop backfield of Brodnax, Johnson, Stormet and McGough gave Neville an early indication of the Ram power by taking the opening kickoff on a four-first-down march of 70 yards to the Neville ten from where Johnson rammed off tackle for the opening touchdown.

Just before the opening quarter closed, the Rams covered a Neville fumble on the Tiger 30, and the Rams promptly hammered their way to the Neville five as the quarter ended. Then on the first play of the second quarter McGough sliced through the middle for the needed distance, and Bob Lofton kicked the point to give the Rams a 13-0 edge.

Midway of the second period the Rams started rolling again from their own 23 with a pair of passes. Stormet to Bill Lofton and Stormet to Walter Hull, sparking a drive to the Bengal 3. Johnson skirted end to score. Bill Lofton's kick was good.

Neville broke the shutout just before the half after downing a kick on the Tiger 22. "Spec" Lewis took a pass from Elton Upshaw for 18. Upshaw then passed to Jerry Aston in the clear and the Tiger end galloped 60 yards for the Neville touchdown. Try for the point failed, and Bastrop led 20-6 at the half.

The Rams grabbed two more touchdowns in the third period, one for McGough on an 18-yard end run, and the other by Brodnax on a 13-yard smash through the middle. Johnson's fine 42-yard run set up the touchdown for McGough, and runs of a dozen yards by Brodnax and a 22-yard sprint by McGough set the stage for Brodnax's touchdown. Kicks for points behind each touchdown failed.

A 23-yard dash by Lewis just before the third quarter ended, and a 21-yard dash by the same hardy Tiger back on the second play of the fourth quarter sparked a Tiger march into scoring range with Aston taking a touchdown pass from Upshaw for the second Bengal TD.

Upshaw's passing to Causey, Mickey Yerger and Glenn Bassett speared a final Neville touchdown march late in the fourth quarter. An 18-yard pitch to Yerger set the ball on the Ram ten, and Upshaw then passed to Causey for the touchdown.

Bastrop lost two touchdowns as the result of penalties. In the third quarter an offside violation robbed Johnson of a 39-yard touchdown on a pass from Stormet; and in the final period Brodnax went 72 yards for a touchdown that was nullified by a backfield in motion penalty.

Score by quarters:

Indians Trip Bosox, 4-2, As Garcia Wins His 17th

CLEVELAND, Sept. 10 (AP)—Mike Garcia kept alive his chance to be a 20-game winner and safeguarded the Cleveland Indians' American League lead tonight by beating the Boston Red Sox, 4-2. The victory was Garcia's 17th against eight losses and his fourth straight over Boston.

The Tribe now has won 19, lost two and tied two with Boston in an interclub series ending here tomorrow afternoon.

The Indians scored three runs in the third and added another on Jim Hegan's homer in the fourth off starter Leo Kiely, who went out in the fifth for a pinch hitter. It was the eighth loss for southpaw Kiely against five won.

Hegan beat out an infield hit to start the third-inning rally. He advanced on Garcia's sacrifice and Al Smith's single and scored on Bob Avila's sacrifice fly. Larry Doby singled Smith across and came home himself on Vic Wertz's double.

In scattering eight hits, Garcia gave none to Ted williams, whose batting crown aspiration were hurt by two strikeouts, two ground outs and a walk. In the seventh Ted was called out on strikes with two men on base.

Reds Stun Giants

Katt Sets Record With Four Passed Balls In 1 Frame

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds picked today to win their first game of the season in the Polo Grounds, beating the Giants 8-1. And in doing so they gave New York's pennant prospects a severe jolt.

By winning this one game on the field where they had lost nine times earlier this season, the Reds whacked the Giants' National League lead, made hash of a half dozen Giant pitchers and contributed to a record-in-reverse by Giant catcher Ray Katt.

The Giants made nine hits off Art Fowler, 31-year-old Red rookie, but only one run. Cincinnati got the same number of hits off six Giant pitchers. To top off a miserable day for the New Yorkers, the Reds scored their last two runs in the eighth inning when Katt had four passed balls.

The Giant catcher was trying to hold Hoyt Wilhelm's sharp-breaking knuckle ball and couldn't. The result was a major league record for passed balls in one inning. The old record was three, held by four catchers, only one of whom played after 1900.

Frick Says 'No' To Advertising Tie-In On Series

CLEVELAND, Sept. 10 (AP)—A device for coupling sales of World Series tickets with program advertising came to light today, and baseball commissioner Ford C. Frick put a stop to it.

The Cleveland Indians plan to sell a souvenir program at the World Series games here.

George Medinger, vice president of the club, confirmed the existence of a plan for tie-in sales, and said it was originated by Bill Veeck when he headed the Indians in their championship year of 1948.

Commercial advertisers who bought a full page of advertising in the program for $800 would get permission to buy as many as 40 sets of World Series tickets.

Frick told a reporter, by telephone from New York, that he had talked with general manager Hank Greenberg about the idea, and that Greenberg agreed there would be no tie-in sales.

Th commissioner said there was no objection to plans under which purchasers of season tickets—or those who subscribe to various combinations covering 50 or more games a season—are allowed to buy series tickets.

"There is no objection to that," said Frick. "But this office will not tolerate tie-in sales of World Series tickets. I have explained that to Greenberg. Henry said he understood and there would be no such sales."

Scrimmage Billed For L. S. U. Grid Candidates Today

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 10 (AP) — With a full scale scrimmage on the agenda for tomorrow, Louisiana State University's football team went through a no-contact drill today that stressed fundamentals.

Coach Gaynell Tinsley devoted equal time to pass offense and defense before running his 50-man squad through signal drills.

The practice ended with punting, extra point protection and "wind sprints" up and down the field.

Quarterback Al Doggett and fullback Tommy Davis, who will handle the kicking, turned in fancy toework.

In the line, guard Enos Parker and center Larry Jones blocked well to give kickers time to get set.

Tomorrow's session will be the final full-scale rehearsal before the Texas tilt at Austin Sept. 18.

Holman Renamed To Tutor Cagers At City College

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP) — Nat Holman has been re-assigned as basketball coach at the College of the City of New York, where in 34 years he built a reputation as one of the nation's outstanding basketball coaches.

The re-assignment is the final step in Holman's campaign to clear himself of any connection with the scandals, which rocked the sports world in 1951 and involved City College's national championship team of 1950.

Holman was suspended as coach in 1952 as an aftermath of the scandals. He recently was reinstated to his position as associate professor in the college's department of hygiene after the state department of education had reversed a ruling by the board of higher education.

Favored Basilio Hands Out Fistic Lesson To Fiore

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Heavily favored Carmen Basilio floored strong-hearted Carmine Fiore twice in the first round and then carved out a unanimous 10-round decision over the blood-smeared Brooklynite in Madison Square Garden tonight. Basilio weighed 147½, Fiore 148½.

It was Basilio's second victory in 17 months over Fiore and kept him in the running for a title shot at the winner of the Gavilan-Johnny Saxton championship fight.

The ex-marine from Canastota, N. Y., who is the No. 1 welter contender, dropped his aggressive, 25-year-old rival with left hooks in the opening round, and had him bleeding from a cut under the chin, and from the mouth and nose.

The votes, all for Basilio, were: referee Ray Miller, 6-3-1; judge Harold Barnes, 8-2, and judge Arthur Aidala, 7-2-1. The AP scorecard had Basilio in front, 7-3.

Musial's Hopes Of Batting Title Begin To Wane

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 10 (AP) — Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals has just about given up on his bid for a seventh National League batting title this season.

Conceding the 1954 batting championship to Duke Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers or Willie Mays of the New York Giants, Musial said "It looks like just too much of a spread for me to make up."

Before today's games, the figures read: Snider .350, Mays .341, Musial .335.

Stan The Man last month predicted he would pick up the batting crown again this season, but after going 1-for-8 in a two-game series at Brooklyn, he said:

"It's tough to pick up points at this time of year, and what do we have left — 16 games? Nope, I think Duke will win it. He's having a fine year."

Rumors Orioles To Get Richards Grow Stronger

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Chicago Tribune reported tonight Manager Paul Richards of the Chicago White Sox has committed himself to accept a three-year contract with the Baltimore Orioles as field manager and general manager.

The offer from Baltimore calls for approximately $45,000 a year, the Tribune said, but added that Richards has not gone through the formality of signing the contract.

Richards earlier today rejected a two-year contract offered by the White Sox. He said he will not announce his future plans until the end of the season.

The Tribune said "It is believed he is motivated by a desire to spare Jimmie Dykes, Baltimore's manager, from embarrassment while the season is in progress and also to complete the season with the White Sox before making the announcement."

Student Analyzes World Problems For Civitan Club

Vernon Sanders, student at Duke University where he is preparing for a career as a medical missionary, was guest speaker for the Monroe Civitan Club Thursday night.

Sanders, a Monroe native who qualified for the ministry shortly after graduating from high school, discussed the individual approach to world problems.

"The picture," he said, "may cause many to say that the world is doomed."

He stated that this is not true, and that if we do our duty here that all will be well with us. By way of example, he concluded with the story in the Bible of the rich man who had lived what appeared to be an exemplary life. But the Master's injunction was more than he was willing to follow out. He was told to part with his worldly possessions and to follow the Master. He had great possessions and went away sorrowfully.

That is the lesson for us today; we must put Christ first in our lives and follow Him, stated the speaker.

Elmer Goss, from the Civitan Club in Fort Worth, was a guest. He is visiting Civitan clubs with an effort to awaken them to greater service to the public. He will spend some time in Bossier City with the club there and also will return to the Monroe club later on.

Because goats have eaten most of the vegetation, observers say that Mas a Tierra, island off Chile, reputedly the original Robinson Crusoe site, is being washed into the sea.

Investigation Of 2 Men Arrested On Marijuana Counts, Continues Here

Local authorities last night continued an investigation of two men being held in the Ouachita parish jail on charges of possession of marijuana following their arrest by the sheriff's department and the Louisiana State police. No bonds have been set.

Sheriff Grant identified the two as James Clay Baker, 25, of San Diego, Calif., and Robert James Fenderson, 23, of Douglas, Ariz. They were taken into custody early yesterday morning as they entered the city, Grant said.

The two were apprehended soon after they complained to Rayville officers that a motorist with whom they were hitchhiking had driven off with their clothing.

According to Sheriff Grant, the local sheriff department received a call from the Rayville police department that a man, driving a 1947 Ford convertible, had left the two men in a Rayville cafe, but had taken their clothing. The two men, Grant said were hitchhiking a ride back out west.

When apprehended by the local deputies, the driver of the automobile, identified as Ernest Doyle Penick, Jackson, Miss., told officers he had picked up the two as they were hitchhiking westward. While riding between Tallulah and Rayville, Penick told officers the two riders urged him to buy some of the marijuana cigarettes which they had and possibly to sell what he didn't want to smoke himself.

Penick told officers he became frightened when thinking what might happen and stopped in Rayville, telling the two he wanted to get something to eat. As the three entered the cafe, Penick said he had to go back to the automobile to get something, and then, when he reached the car, left without Baker and Fenderson.

The two had then notified officers who in turn telephoned the local sheriff department to be on the lookout.)

Sheriff Grant along with Deputy Sheriff W. O. Causey, after talking with Penick, called in the state police and the two departments began working on the possibility of the two having the illegal narcotics.

While searching the clothing of the two men, 95 marijuana cigarettes were found hidden inside the lining of a jacket sleeve.

Penick was detained by officers until it could be established that he had no connection with the two men. (A check proved he was returning from his home in Jackson, Miss., to a naval base.)

Another check with Rayville brought out that the two men had left, heading towards Monroe, in a 1942 Mercury. The car, driven by a Delhi farmer, was stopped and the two men taken into custody. The driver of the car told officers he had picked up the two, who told him they were coming to Monroe to find a man who had taken their clothing. He also told officers he knew of nothing else concerning the two.

The investigation which continued all night was still being made late Friday by the sheriff's department and state police narcotics division.

District Attorney Fred Fudickar pointed out yesterday that the penalty for possession of narcotics in Louisiana is two to 10 years in the state penitentiary.

Suspect In Fatal Stabbing Is Held

VIDALIA, Sept. 10 (Special)—A Lake St. John Negro, suspected of fatally stabbing his brother-in-law, is being held in Concordia Parish jail here.

Sheriff Noah W. Cross said Friday that the man, Henry Lee Mounger, 45, was arrested in a cotton field near Lake St. John shortly after the stabbing. The victim, Joseph Litt, 35, was rushed to a Ferriday hospital but died en route.

The cause for the knifing was not established.

Missouri Authorities Hold Forgery Suspect

Robert T. Jackson, wanted here on a count of forgery, has been taken into custody by the sheriff's department at Stockton, Mo., Sheriff Bailey Grant reports.

Jackson is alleged to have passed a forged check here in the amount of $400 at a local furniture store.

He is being held for a forgery charge at Stockton, Mo., however, and will probably be tried there first, Sheriff Grant said. A detainer has been filed by local authorities, and an attempt will be made to return the man to Monroe following his release by Missouri authorities, it is reported.

President Again Urges Election Of GOP Congress

DENVER, Sept. 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower today sounded a new call for election of a Republican Congress — "a Congress to support me."

The President put it that way in talking with newsmen after an early morning breakfast of bacon and eggs with GOP chairmen from 19 Midwestern and Rocky Mountain states.

Dressed in brown sports coat and tan slacks, Eisenhower stood before the elevator in the corridor of a downtown hotel and told reporters:

"They (the party leaders) are here to assure me they are working for (election of) a Congress to support me.

"Under the two-party system, that means a Republican Congress. Of course, all of us want every kind of support we can get from every channel.

"For organizational and procedural purposes it is necessary that we have a Republican-organized House and Senate."

With a chuckle the President showed off an "insurance policy" presented to him by the Douglas County Republican organization of Nebraska.

A piece of campaign literature which Eisenhower termed "a clever thing," the document says on the cover that it "guarantees the continuance of a sound program that protects against subversion, socialism and financial bankruptcy."

Inside are listed "dividends" claimed by the administration, including "a $7,400,000,000 savings to American taxpayers" through tax cuts.

Eisenhower's appeal today for election of a Republican Congress was his first direct call since Aug. 19, when he spoke at the Illinois State Fair.

Since then he has plugged the record of his administration and the GOP-run 83rd Congress on several occasions, but each time stopped short of an out-and-out appeal for continuance of Republican control of the lawmaking body.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower entertained a group of friends at dinner and bridge in the presidential suite of the Brown Palace Hotel last night.

Compensation Act To Be Discussed At Meetings Here

J. Hadley Heard, administrator of the Louisiana Division of Employment Security, will hold several meetings in Monroe during the period Sept. 13-17 to talk to employers on the Louisiana Unemployment Compensation act.

He will be accompanied by Richard B. Davis, public relations representative, and H. H. Avery, chief of the Unemployment Insurance Field Representatives.

According to an announcement, the team will talk to employers on the act in general, but especially on that section relative to employers' contributions, which range from .1 per cent to 2.7 per cent. It will be explained how experience ratings can be reduced, or held to a minimum, which means a savings in dollars and cents, officials say.

The meetings here will be held as follows:

Monday, Sept. 13, 7 p.m.: Filling station operators and gas and oil distributors at the United Gas Company building, Louisville Avenue.

Tuesday, Sept. 14, 12 p.m.: Lions' Club at the Frances Hotel.

Tuesday, Sept. 14, 7:30 p.m.: Laundry Owners' Association, Hi-Way Cafe, 806 Cypress St., West Monroe.

Wednesday, Sept. 15, 12:10 p.m.: Kiwanis Club at Virginia Hotel.

Wednesday, Sept. 15, 7 p.m.: Restaurant Owners' Association at United Gas Company building, Louisville Avenue.

Thursday, Sept. 16, 7 p.m.: West Monroe Lions' Club at The Barn, West Monroe.

Friday, Sept. 17, 12 p.m.: Optimist Club at The Italian Village, Louisville Avenue.

State May Save $100,000 Per Month Under Federal Law Hiking Old-Age Aid

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 10 (AP) — Louisiana will have $100,000 a month in public welfare costs because of increases recently made by Congress in old age survivors insurance.

But the windfall will vanish if the federal government approves Louisiana's request to allow old age pensioners to earn up to $30 a month without suffering a reduction in grant.

This was reported to the State Board of Public Welfare today by Mrs. Edith Ross, director of local welfare services.

Effective Sept. 1, Mrs. Ross said, OASI payments were increased by $5 to $13.50 a month, resulting in a reduction in state cost of providing old age assistance for more than 21,000 recipients.

The federal government, which contributes to Louisiana's welfare program, has under consideration an act of the 1954 state Legislature permitting old age pensioners to earn $30 a month in outside income.

Federal approval must be obtained before the act can go into effect. If obtained, it will wipe out savings from the new survivors insurance payments, since recipients can pocket the OASI increase without hurting their Louisiana checks.

The board heard that Louisiana's welfare surplus has slipped below 15 million dollars — once regarded as the minimum cushion for safe operations — and will skid to 10 million by June, 1955.

The recent Legislature reduced the minimum welfare cushion from 15 to 10 million dollars and allowed even further withdrawals if the money is needed to operate charity hospitals.

Gilbert Root, department fiscal officer, said the cushion might slip below the 10 million figure if the federal government approves the extra $30 a month income for old age pensioners. At the time the act passed, estimates were it would cost two million dollars a year through increased welfare payments and new cases made eligible.

"We have to be careful not to undertake any new obligations," commented board member Gust Catsulis of New Iberia.

Burton Aycock, director of the division on the blind, reported the results of a disability study requested by the board last year.

The survey studied case histories of 1,485 of the 47,495 people receiving disability assistance plus the case histories of 589 applicants for assistance.

It showed the average disability case was 50 years old or older, had completed less than six grades in school, was an unskilled or manual laborer and disabled from a wasting illness like tuberculosis or paralysis. Fifty-four per cent were non-whites, 46 per cent whites.

Aycock said a "goodly number" were able to do some light work "such as operate an elevator," but Louisiana industry afforded few opportunities for this type employment.

As suggested by the survey group, the board adopted a four-point program as a basic approach to the problem of disability:

1. Wide publication of the survey results to get action at community level.

2. Convening of a governor's conference to discuss the problem with agencies involved in public health, education, hospital and welfare work.

3. Concerted action to stamp out the diseases which mainly cause disability.

4. Expanded rehabilitation facilities to make wage earners of the incapacitated.

In other actions, the board:

1. Decided to make payments for tuberculosis treatment directly to the hospital or health unit rather than the patient to be sure the money is spent for treatment.

2. Authorized the commissioner to give a 90-day option to Harry Lattner, New Orleans realtor, on the purchase of a department-owned tract, adjoining a branch office, at S. Carrollton and Oleander in New Orleans. Lattner offered $52,500, plus free paving of a welfare parking lot, for the property.

Canadian farm workers earn an average of $102 a month.

Senators Ask Prosecution Of FHA Official

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 10 —UP— The Senate Banking and Currency committee Friday asked the Justice Department to take action against a former FHA official who admitted selling Jackson Day Democratic dinner tickets to federal workers under his jurisdiction.

Sen. Wallace Bennett (R - Utah) heading the committee's investigation into alleged "windfall profits" here on FHA-financed constructing said his committee had asked the Justice Department to investigate the case of former FHA official Col. Hugh Askew for possible Hatch Act violations.

At the same time another FHA official told the committee that several New Orleans contractors sponsored lavish parties for FHA officials, including expensive fishing trips, and some at one-time swank gambling clubs here.

Robert J. Salvant, chief underwriter for the New Orleans office of the FHA, who is now on "forced leave," testified that the parties usually climaxed FHA approval of loans for big housing projects.

Askew, former director of the western district of Oklahoma for the FHA, admitted he collected $550 from 22 FHA employes in his district for tickets to a Jackson Day dinner in November, 1951. Askew, who resigned from the FHA on March 1, 1954, said he had exerted no pressure on employes for dinner contributions and said they were voluntary.

The Hatch Act forbids federal employes from taking part in politics and bans soliciting among government workers for campaign fund contributions.

Askew said the sale of the tickets was held in the same manner as were contributions to the March of Dime, Shrine circus, Red Cross and other charity agencies.

BETSY ROSS
SPINET
America's Fastest
Selling,
Low Price
PIANO

Q—Do they sell?

A—Since July 1st, we sold 2 big carloads. 3rd Carload is now ready for disposal.

Q—What is the fastest selling piano in America?

A—Beyond doubt, the new style, new low price Betsy Ross Spinet!

Q—How does it compare with other makes?

A—It's in a class to itself—yet it is no more expensive than the lower price pianos.

Q—Will it hold up?

A—Every piano has a 10 year factory guarantee.

Q—How can I purchase the new Betsy Ross Spinet?

A—On Roark Bros. easy payment plan. We finance our own notes.

Repeated Swindle Wins A Top Score

There's nothing very dramatic about the contract in today's hand. At rubber bridge it wouldn't be terribly important whether declarer made or lost this part score. Since it was played in a tournament, however, where each hand is equally important, the play was just as dramatic as the struggle to fulfill a slam contract.

West opened the singleton diamond, and dummy won with the king. At most tables, where South was likewise the declarer at a contract of two spades, the defenders were able to get two spades, together with one trick in each of the remaining suits. There was a different story to tell when Leonard B. Harmon, well-known New York expert, held the West cards.

At the second trick declarer led a trump from the dummy and finessed the jack. Harmon won with the queen of spades and then promptly led the deuce of hearts through dummy's king.

South, thinking that East probably held the ace, played a low heart from the dummy. East won with the jack of hearts and returned a diamond for his partner to ruff. East wasn't sure that this play would gain anything, but he was willing to string along with his partner since the course of the play made it obvious that West was in search of diamond ruffs.

Having executed the swindle once, Harmon tried it again by leading a second low heart through dummy's king. This convinced South all the more that West could not have the ace of hearts. He therefore played low from the dummy and East won the second heart trick with the queen.

East naturally returned another diamond, and Harmon was able to ruff one more with a low trump. The defenders thus gathered in four trump tricks, two hearts and the ace of clubs for the contract. The executed swindle won Harmon a top score.

CARD Sense

Q—With an [illegible] vulnerable, the bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 Spade	Pass	2 N.T.	3 Diamonds
Pass

You South hold: Spades A-K-J-7-5, Hearts 6-2, Diamonds 8, Clubs K-Q-9-8-4. What do you do?

A—Pass, or bid two spades. You cannot afford to bid freely at the level of three, so you can't show the clubs. Even a rebid of two spades is fairly dangerous. Incidentally, you might have been better off if you had bid one club to begin with — the proper opening bid with this sort of hand.

Today's Question

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades A-K-J-7-5-4, Hearts 6-2, Diamonds None, Clubs K-Q-9-8-4. What do you do?

Hammerhead Shark Is Caught In Cheniere Lake

A three-foot-long, eight-pound hammerhead shark has been captured in Cheniere Lake west of Monroe, some 300 miles from the nearest salt water.

Five days after its capture, the mystery of how it arrived in the lake still was unsolved Friday.

The shark was taken from the waters of Cheniere near Brantley's boat dock, near the Cheniere dam, by J. A. Brantley, owner of the camp, Bill Barney, West Monroe garageman, wrestler and referee.

According to Barney, the small shark was first spotted by A. D. Lee, an employe at Barney's garage, and Buddy Caldwell, salesman for Pan-American Wholesale company here, Sunday afternoon.

The shark was swimming in circles in the shallow water directly below the boat camp, its fin—as those of its larger relatives—showing above the water.

Barney recognized it for a shark and, realizing the unusualness of a shark in these waters, called for Brantley to bring his net.

The four blocked the shark in by crowding boats around it, then Barney and Brantley netted it. Brantley said it weighed eight and one-half pounds, and measured exactly 37 inches from snout to tail.

Brantley has the shark frozen in his deep freeze.

According to the West Monroe garageman, no one has expressed a theory as to how it could have arrived in the waters around Monroe, since such a thing apparently has never been heard of before.

To arrive here under its own power, the shark would have had to swim up the Mississippi river to the Ouachita, up the Ouachita to Cheniere creek, and up the creek to the lake.

"And I don't know why anybody would put it in the lake," Barney said.

It was also unknown Friday whether any more of the sharks were in the lake, a favorite fishing spot for many local anglers.

Welfare Officials Schedule Course On Delinquency

Juvenile delinquency is the subject of a course to be offered in Monroe by Dr. Harrison A. Dobbs of L. S. U. school of social welfare. Monroe - Tallulah Branch of American Association of Social Workers is sponsoring the course, in cooperation with the extension division of Louisiana State University.

The first meeting, on September 20, at 6:30 p. m., will be an organizational session only. Thereafter the class will meet every Monday evening a 6:30 p. m., at a place to be selected by the extension division.

L. S. U. will grant three credit hours on both under-graduate and graduate levels. Persons with junior standing may be admitted as well as graduate students. Credit hours may be used either as an elective social science for an education degree, or for social welfare. In addition any mature adult interested in the subject will be welcomed.

Dr. Dobbs is a nationally known authority on problems of children, and much in demand as a lecturer. He is a regular member of the faculty of the school of social welfare.

Problems of juvenile delinquency are of vital interest to the community. A large group is expected to take advantage of this opportunity for study and discussion. Anyone desiring further information may contact Mrs. Katherine K. Woodley at telephone No. 2-3141.
